REGULATIONS.

* * The following Regulations, made by the Secretary of State for India in Council, are liable to alteration from year to year:—

1. An Examination for admission to the Civil Service of India, open to all qualified persons, will be held in London in August of each year. The date of the Examination and the number of appointments to be made for each Province will be announced beforehand by the Civil Service Commissioners.

2. No person will be deemed qualified who shall not satisfy the Civil Service Commissioners—

- (i) that he is a natural-born subject of His Majesty;

[N.B.—In the case of Natives of India it will be necessary for a Candidate to obtain a certificate of age and nationality issued under Notification of the Government of India, No. 2252, dated 21st August, 1888, as amended by Notification No. 404, dated 19th May, 1898, and signed, should he be a resident in British India, by the Secretary to Government of the Province, or the Commissioner of the Division, within which his family resides, or should he reside in a Native State, by the highest Political Officer accredited to the State in which his family resides.]

- (iii) that he has no disease, constitutional affection, or bodily infirmity unfitting him, or likely to unfit him, for the Civil Service of India;
- (iv) that he is of good moral character.

3. Should the evidence upon the above points be prima facie satisfactory to the Civil Service Commissioners, the Candidate, on payment of the prescribed fee, will be admitted to the Examination. The Commissioners may, however, in their discretion at any time prior to the grant of the Certificate of Qualification hereinafter referred to, institute such further inquiries as they may deem necessary; and if the result of such inquiries, in the case of any Candidate, should be unsatisfactory to them in any of the above respects, he will be ineligible for admission to the Civil Service of India, and if already selected, will be removed from the position of a Probationer.

The Examination will be conducted on paper and visd voce, as may be deemed necessary. This Examination will be held at the close of the year of probation, and will be called the "Final Examination."

If any Candidate is prevented by sickness or any other adequate cause from attending such examination, the Commissioners may, with the concurrence of the Secretary of State for India in Council, allow him to appear at the Final Examination to be held in the following year, or at a special examination.

10. The selected Candidates will also be tested during their probation as to their proficiency in Riding.

The examinations in Riding will be held as follows:—

- (3) Candidates who fail to obtain this Certificate, but who gain a Certificate of minimum proficiency in Riding, will be allowed to proceed to India, but will be subjected on their arrival to such further tests in Riding as may be prescribed by their Government, and shall receive no increase to their initial salary until they have passed such tests to the satisfaction of that Government. The Selected Candidates who, on examination, shall be found to have a competent knowledge of the subjects specified in Regulation 9, and who shall have satisfied the Civil Service Commissioners of their eligibility in respect of nationality, age, health, character, conduct during the period of probation, and ability to ride, shall be certified by the said Commissioners to be entitled to be appointed to the Civil Service of India, provided they shall comply with the regulations in force, at the time, for that Service.

12. Persons desirous to be admitted as Candidates must apply on Forms, which may be obtained from "The Secretary, Civil Service Commission, London, W.," at any time after the 1st December, in the year previous to that in which the Examination is to be held. The Forms must be returned so as to be received at the office of the Civil Service Commissioners on or before the 1st July (or, if that date should fall upon a Sunday or public holiday, then, on or before the first day thereafter on which their office is open) in the year in which the Examination is to be held.

The Civil Service Commissioners are authorized by the Secretary of State for India in Council to make the following announcements:

- (i) Selected Candidates will be allotted to various Provinces upon a consideration of all the circumstances, including their own wishes; but the requirements of the Public Service will rank before every other consideration.
- (ii) An allowance amounting to £100 will be given to all Candidates who pass their probation at one of the Universities or Colleges which have been approved by the Secretary of State, viz., the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge, Dublin, Glasgow, Edinburgh, St. Andrews and Aberdeen; Victoria University, Manchester; University College, London; and King's College, London; provided such Candidates shall have passed the Final Examination to the satisfaction of the Civil Service Commissioners, and shall, in the opinion of the Secretary of State, have conducted themselves well and complied with such rules as may be laid down for the guidance of Selected Candidates. The whole probation must ordinarily be passed at the same Institution. Migration will not be permitted, except for special reasons approved by the Secretary of State.
- (iii) The allowance of £100 will not be paid to any Selected Candidate until he has been certified by the Civil Service Commissioners to be entitled to be appointed to the Civil Service of India; and every Certificated Candidate must, before receiving his allowance, give a written undertaking to refund the amount in the event of his failing to proceed to India.
- (iv) All Candidates obtaining Certificates will be also required to enter into covenants, by which, amongst other things, they will bind themselves to make such payments as under the rules and regulations for the time being in force they may be required to make towards their own pensions or for the pensions of their families. The stamps payable on these covenants amount to £1.
- (v) The seniority in the Civil Service of India of the Selected Candidates will be determined according to the order in which they stand on the list resulting from the combined marks of the Open Competitive and Final Examinations.
- (vi) Selected Candidates will be required to report their arrival in India within such period after the grant of their Certificate of Qualification as the Secretary of State may in each case direct.
- (vii) Candidates rejected at the Final Examination held in any year will in no case be allowed to present themselves for re-examination.

N.B.—A Manual of Rules and Regulations applicable to members of the Covenanted Civil Service of India has been compiled by permission of the Government of India, and may now be procured either from Messrs. A. Constable & Co., 2 Whitehall Gardens, S.W., or from Mr. E. A. Arnold, 37 Bedford Street, Covent Garden. Price 2s. 6d.

The Commissioners have been requested by the Secretary of State for India to draw the attention of Selected Candidates to the prefatory note attached to this manual, as it is considered important that it should be clearly understood that this compilation is not to be regarded in any other light than that of a collection, made for facility of reference, of certain information and rules; that it is by no means exhaustive, and that it is liable to such modifications as may from time to time be sanctioned by competent authority.

CIVIL SERVICE OF INDIA;

CLERKSHIPS (CLASS I) IN THE HOME CIVIL SERVICE; AND EASTERN CLERKSHIPS.

Syllabus showing the extent of the Examination in certain subjects.

English Composition.—An Essay to be written on one of several subjects specified by the Civil Service Commissioners on their Examination Paper.

English Language and Literature.—The Examination will be in two parts. In the one the Candidates will be expected to show a general acquaintance with the course of English Literature, as represented (mainly) by the following writers in verse and prose, between the reign of Edward III and the accession of Queen Victoria:

Verse—Chaucer, Langland, Spencer, Shakespeare, Milton, Dryden, Pope, Gray, Collins, Johnson, Goldsmith, Crabbe, Cowper, Campbell, Wordsworth, Scott, Byron, Coleridge, Shelley, Keats.

Prose—Bacon, Sir Thomas Browne, Milton, Cowley, Bunyan, Dryden, Swift, Defoe, Addison, Johnson, Burke, Scott, Macaulay (Essays and Biographies).

A minute knowledge of the works of these authors will not be looked for in this part of the Examination, which will, however, test how far the Candidates have studied the chief productions of the greatest English writers, in themselves, and are acquainted with the leading characteristics of their thought and style, and with the place which each of them occupies in the history of English Literature. Candidates will also be expected to show that they have studied in these authors the history of the English Language in respect of its vocabulary, syntax, and prosody.

The other part of the Examination will relate to one of the periods named below, which will follow each other year by year in the order indicated:—

- | | |
|--------|---|
| 1. | A D. 1800 to A D. 1832. |
| (1903) | [Nineteenth Century writers to the death of Scott.] |
| 2. | A.D. 1360 to A.D. 1600. |
| (1904) | [Chaucer to Spencer.] |
| 3. | A.D. 1600 to A.D. 1700. |
| (1905) | [Shakespeare to Dryden.] |
| 4. | A.D. 1700 to A.D. 1800. |
| (1906) | [Pope to Cowper.] |

The Examination in this part will require from Candidates a more minute acquaintance with the history of the English Language and Literature, as illustrated in the chief works produced in each period, and will be based to a considerable extent, but by no means exclusively, on certain books specified each year by the Commissioners.* The names placed under the dates are intended to suggest the general character of the literary development of the period, and, consequently, the natural limits of the Examination. All the works of Shakespeare, for example, will be regarded as falling within the period 1600 to 1700; all the works of Swift within the period 1700 to 1800; all the works of Scott and Wordsworth, and all the works of Macaulay within the period 1800 to 1832.

French Language and Literature.—Translation and Composition. Critical questions on the French Language and Literature. Conversation.

[A.D. 800 to A.D. 1193.]
2. From the Third Crusade to the Diet of Worms.

The Statistical Returns for the years 1899-1900 and 1900-1901.

THIS is the first Triennial Report submitted to Government after the issue of the orders contained in Home Department letter No. 2741, dated the 26th March 1901, for the curtailment of annual reports, and it has been prepared by the Hon'ble Mr. Tarini Kumar Ghose, who took charge of the Registration Department from Khan Bahadur Delawar Hossain Ahmed on the 5th April 1900. Only eight statistical tables, prescribed by the Government of India, have been appended to this report, but some additional information is furnished in five statements which are intended for the Bengal Government only.

2. Steady progress has been made during the triennium in the operations of the Registration Department. The number of offices has risen yearly since 1887, and there are now 442 offices open for the registration of documents; only seven of these do not yet pay their way, but their progress is being carefully watched, and some of them are retained in spite of the loss on their working for the convenience of isolated tracts or for the encouragement of registration in backward districts. The receipts of the department increased very largely in the last triennium, and the increase has been well maintained during the period under review, the figures for 1901-1902 being the highest yet reached. Inasmuch as by far the greatest portion of the expenditure is in the shape of commission, the cost of the department has risen in only a slightly less ratio than the receipts; in his present report the Inspector-General has omitted to include the expenses and receipts of his own office and that of the Registrar of Companies, but, even allowing for the expenditure on these, the surplus during the triennium and during the last year is higher than it has ever been before. The ordinary items of expenditure remain proportionately constant, but the expenditure on sadar registration offices finds no place in these accounts; hitherto those offices have formed part of the district offices and have been held in the same buildings; but with the increase of district work there is a growing demand for more accommodation in the Collectorate offices, and the time has come when separate buildings will have to be more frequently provided for registration offices, and, considering the large profits made by registration, it is only fair that these buildings should be a charge on that department.

3. The growing recognition of the benefits of registration is gauged not only by the larger number of offices open, but also by the increase in the number of optional registrations. The famine of 1897 caused an immense increase in the number of mortgages of immoveable property under the value of Rs. 100 and in the number of obligations for the payment of money; the circumstances were exceptional and there was a sharp fall in the next three years; but the total number of optional registrations has risen steadily during the period under review, and is now very considerably in excess of the numbers in the years preceding the famine.

4. The statistics of registration throw a side-light on the condition and tendencies of the people, and they are valuable from that point of view. The most important figures are those for the sale of immoveable property, and the registration of these deeds is compulsory. In 1895-96 the number of such transactions affecting property of the value of Rs. 100 and upwards was 90,237; in 1897-98 it rose to 116,382, but fell again in the following year; since 1899-1900 the number has steadily risen, and in the last year of the triennium it was 130,243. But an examination into the details of the figures does not support the obvious interpretation that the holders of large estates are being impoverished and forced to sell; the explanation would appear to be that the value of land has risen and brought into this category a number of petty holdings the value of which in former years would have been under Rs. 100. Roughly, the classes of estates that come under this head are—

- | | |
|------------------------------|--------------------------------------|
| (1) Revenue-paying estates. | (4) Intermediate tenures. |
| (2) Shares in these. | (5) Raiyati holdings at fixed rates. |
| (3) Revenue-free properties. | (6) Others. |

The following table shows the number of sale transactions affecting these classes registered in the years 1894-95, 1897-98, and 1901-1902:—

	1894-95.	1897-98.	1901-1902.
Revenue-paying estates	2,017	2,134	1,105
Shares in revenue-paying estates	13,205	13,619	13,648
Revenue-free estates	9,111	7,221	8,252
Intermediate tenures	51,566	56,483	46,522
Raiyati holdings at fixed rates	49,398	59,870	38,469
Others	25,590	29,525	27,281

The number of such transactions is fairly constant and shows no tendency to increase; on the contrary, there has been a noticeable decrease during the last triennium in the number of whole estates, intermediate tenures, and raiyati holdings at fixed rates sold; there are no details given from which the relative price of land in these years can be worked out, but the value of holdings at fixed rates has considerably risen. In 1894 these holdings were sold at an average of 12 2 years' purchase; since then the price has gone up, and in 1902 the average is 22 years' purchase. There is a tendency to a decline in the number of purchases made by mahajans, while the other classes of purchasers remain proportionately constant. These figures can give rise to no anxiety as to the condition of the landholders of the Province; far from any signs of deterioration being apparent, they are evidently more than maintaining their position.

5. As the total of these classes in the last year shows a considerable decrease as compared with the other years, the increase in the total number of transactions affecting immoveable property above the value of Rs. 100 must, it would seem, be at all events partially due to the rise in value of raiyati holdings with occupancy rights and the consequent inclusion of some of these in this category. The increase in the number of transactions affecting this class has been most marked of recent years; in 1894-95 the number was 145,805; in 1901-1902 it had risen to 239,489. The average value has risen from 13 years' purchase in the former year to 19 years' purchase in the last year; the value seems extraordinarily high in Gaya and Ranchi. The districts where these transactions are most common are Midnapore, Mymensingh, Tippera, Muzaffarpur and Puri; the increase is common to nearly all the districts, but is most marked in Orissa, and is least in the Rajshahi Division. The number of mahajan purchasers has slightly increased in these years, but in proportion to the number of these transactions the number of such purchasers has certainly decreased; the number of landlord and other purchasers has remained fairly constant, and the great increase has been in the number of raiyat purchasers. These have increased from 109,806 in 1894-95 to 179,418 in 1901-1902. The large increase in the number of raiyat purchasers negatives the explanation that the raiyats as a body have been hard pressed and forced to sell their holdings, nor would this explanation fit in with the rise in the value of these holdings. The truth seems to be that the activity of the Settlement Department has awakened the raiyats in many parts to the fact that they possess these rights and that they are of value; the custom of allowing their transfer has been established by the settlement operations or has grown up, and the more improvident raiyats have eagerly realised this new-found asset for which they can obtain a good price from more provident persons. The facts are engaging the attention of the Revenue authorities, but, so far as these figures are concerned, they give every cause for satisfaction as regards the condition of the general body of raiyats.

6. On the other hand, mortgages of immoveable property of the value of Rs. 100 and upwards have steadily increased during the triennium; the increase is spread over almost all the districts. The registration of these is compulsory under the law, but there is reason to believe that it is only comparatively recently that the mahajan has found it necessary to comply with the law, owing to the fact that an unregistered mortgage is not accepted by the Settlement authorities, and to the fact that his personal influence over the raiyat is on the decline. For this latter reason it is reported that in many cases the mahajan will no longer accept a simple note of hand, but requires some tangible security, and this no doubt accounts for the rise in the number of mortgages on property valued at less than Rs. 100. At first sight it would appear that, if this explanation is correct, the number of obligations for the repayment of money registered should decrease; but the registration of these is optional, and if the personal hold of the mahajan over the raiyat is less than before, it would be natural for him to register these obligations as an additional security. On the whole, then, the registration statistics as far as they go give no cause for dissatisfaction as regards the condition of the landholders or raiyats in this Province, except the large increase in the transfers of occupancy rights, and the fact that by far the largest number of purchasers of these are themselves raiyats considerably lessens the anxiety on that score.

7. The remaining operations of the Department do not require much comment; the number of leases of all terms has steadily increased, and there appears to be no ground at present for the opinion that the increase in the duty on perpetual leases has stopped their execution. The Lieutenant-Governor again notes with regret that the number of inspections both by the Inspector-General and the Special Inspectors is not satisfactory. It is of the utmost importance to the proper working of the Department that as many different offices as possible should be regularly and periodically inspected. It is not clear how many of the 314 inspections were second inspections of the same office, but the Lieutenant-Governor wishes to impress on the Inspector-General the absolute necessity of inspecting as many offices as possible himself, and seeing that the rest are inspected each at reasonable intervals by the three Inspectors.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Inspector-General of Registration, for information and guidance.

Ordered also that a copy of the Resolution, together with a copy of the Report, be submitted to the Government of India, in the Home Department, for information.

Ordered also that the Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

Chief Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye observations. 58.14

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph. The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

o, overcast; g, gloomy; d, drizzling rain; p, passing temporary showers, a, dew; t, thunder.

FINAL FORECAST OF THE JUTE CROP IN BENGAL FOR THE SEASON, 1902.

The following Note is published for general information.

W. C. MACPHERSON,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

The 2nd October 1902.

DEPARTMENT OF LAND RECORDS AND AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Final forecast of the Jute Crop in Bengal for the Season 1902.

SINCE the issue of the preliminary forecast, weather conditions in the jute districts have been normal, and the prospects of the crop remain on the whole unchanged.

2. As the result of further enquiries, District Officers now return the area cropped at 2,106,250 acres, as compared with 2,107,500 acres in the preliminary forecast, but I see no reason to alter my estimate of 2,200,000 acres as the area sown.

3. Of the 26 jute-growing districts, seven increase their estimates, nine lower them, while from the remaining ten districts the estimates are unchanged. The estimate for Pabna is reduced from 93 to 75 per cent., while that for the Dacca district is raised from 58 to 79 per cent. Rangpur increases its estimate from 75 to 88 per cent.; while, on the other hand, Rajshahi and Dinajpur each reduce theirs by 10 per cent., and Burdwan district from 100 to 76 per cent. of a normal crop.

4. Taking the Province as a whole, the average outturn estimated by District Officers works out to 75·8 per cent. of a normal yield, as compared with 75 per cent. previously estimated. For the reasons stated in my preliminary forecast, I believe that the outturn has been underestimated, and I adhere to my previous estimate of 80 per cent. of a normal crop. Taking the normal yield as three bales per acre, the outturn for the Province may be expected to reach $\frac{80}{100}$ ths of $3 \times 2,200,000$ acres = $52\frac{4}{5}$ lakhs of bales, as previously estimated.

	Bogra	868,750	650,000	86,000	71,000	70,000	20	70	The decrease in the area and outturn is due to the untimely and excessive rainfall this year. On enquiry no reason could be found to change the area estimated in the preliminary forecast. The crop grown this year is found to be below the normal crop for the causes shown above.
	Pabna	1,176,980	583,800	144,800	140,800	153,000	103	75	It is reported by the Subdivisional Officer of Sirajganj where jute is more extensively cultivated than in the Sadar subdivision that excessive rainfall having caused damage to the crop of about one-eighth of the area originally sown with jute, this area was subsequently resown with paddy. The excessive rainfall also stunted the growth of jute plants and retarded the weeding operations. High floods also damaged the crop to some extent, hence the outturn is estimated to be smaller.
Dacca	Dacca	1,780,480	1,213,500	171,000	168,000	183,000	102	74	The decrease in the area sown and in the outturn is due to the untimely and abnormal rain during the sowing season.
	Mymensingh	4,682,450	3,403,700	562,100	548,500	500,000	104	70	Owing to excessive rain early in the year, a reduced area has been sown, and the outturn will be less than normal for the same reason.
	Faridpur	1,459,840	1,112,000	100,000	103,000	110,000	107	73	There is no reason to change the figures shown in the preliminary forecast. The outturn has been below the normal owing to excessive rain during the growing season.
	Backergonj	2,336,390	1,408,000	10,000	10,000	10,000	100	50	Excessive rainfall throughout the season has been very prejudicial to the growing season. Hence the low outturn.

	Noakhali			1,052,500	784,800	3,500	7,000	2,100	85	30		The decrease in column 4 is due to revision of estimate, as explained in the preliminary forecast. The decreases both in the area sown and in the estimated outturn, are due to excessive rainfall at the time of sowing.
	Bhagalpur			2,109,540	2,197,000	22,400	22,200	22,500	100	96		From enquiries made the area sown and the proportion it bears to the normal area, have been ascertained. Sub-divisional Officer, Madhupur, reports that deficient rainfall is the cause of low outturn.

Bhagalpur	Purnea	3,195,520	1,680,000	55,000	53,000	51,000	90	75	This year's outturn has not been good. There were heavy rains and floods at the latter part of the season and jute on low lands got damaged. Low prices of last year have discouraged cultivation somewhat, hence reduced area.

Orissa	Cuttack	2,393,200	1,161,200	4,500	5,600	5,900	90	100	Owing to favourable rainfall, the area sown has increased by about 300 acres and an average outturn is expected, since there has been no damage to this crop either by flood or deficient rainfall. The increase in area and outturn is due to seasonable rains.

PRELIMINARY FORECAST OF THE BHADOI CROPS
OF BENGAL, 1902.

THE following Note is published for general information.

W. C. MACPHERSON,

Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

The 2nd October 1902.

DEPARTMENT OF LAND RECORDS AND AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Preliminary Forecast of the Bhadoi crops of Bengal, 1902.

Explanatory.—The chief bhadoi non-food crops of the Province are jute, indigo and cotton, and they are forecasted separately. Bhadoi til is included in the oilseeds forecast, and this report deals mainly with food-crops, of which the most important are bhadoi paddy, Indian-corn and millets. These three together make up more than four-fifths of the total area under all the bhadoi food-crops. Bhadoi paddy is chiefly grown in Bengal and Orissa, and occupies 60 per cent. of the total bhadoi food-crop area. Maize and millets predominate in Bihar and occupy 26 per cent. of this area.

2. Character of the season.—The rainfall in March and April was above the normal almost all over the Province, and in May also there was fair rain everywhere, except in a few districts of Bihar and Chota Nagpur. June was a comparatively dry month, except in North and East Bengal, where the fall greatly exceeded the normal. The rains broke late in June and were seriously deficient in the Patna and Chota Nagpur Divisions; while, on the other hand, in Eastern Bengal, the fall was excessive, thus aggravating the injury caused by abnormally heavy rain in April and May. July was a seasonable month, but in August the fall was again deficient, except in North and East Bengal, while floods at the end of the month caused much damage in the Muzaffarpur and Darbhanga districts. In the present month there has been copious and general rain throughout the Province. On the whole, the season has not been an unfavourable one, though some damage has been caused by excessive rainfall in Eastern Bengal and by drought in Bihar and Chota Nagpur.

3. Area sown.—Since the issue of last year's final forecast on these crops, the estimates of the normal area occupied by the different bhadoi crops have been revised in some districts. Excluding the area sown with jute, indigo, cotton and bhadoi til, the normal area under bhadoi crops is estimated at 12,512,100 acres. The area sown this year is returned at 12,157,100 acres, as compared with 12,233,700 acres last year. The contraction is attributable to the drought in June.

4. Character of the crop.—From the summary of the district returns appended to this forecast, it will be seen that out of 45 districts in the Province, 14 report a crop of 100 per cent. or over; in 8 the outturn is expected to vary between 90 and 100 per cent., and in 10 others between 80 and 89 per cent. Of the rest, 11 anticipate a harvest of 70 to 79 per cent. of the normal. Tippera forecasts a 65 per cent. outturn, while Patna anticipates only 57 per cent. of a normal crop. According to the district returns, the outturn for the whole Province will amount to 87 per cent. of the average, but after allowing for the tendency of the reporting officers to underestimate, I am inclined to think that the yield will not be less than 90 per cent. throughout the Province.

REPORT ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE STAMP DEPARTMENT DURING THE THREE YEARS ENDING THE 31ST MARCH 1902.

NOTIFICATION—No. 1752T.—F.

The 27th September 1902.—The following extracts from the Report from the Board of Revenue on the Administration of the Stamp Department for the triennium ending 31st March 1902, are published for general information.

E. W. COLLIN,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 972B., dated Calcutta, the 15th August 1902.

From—H. WHEELER, Esq., Secretary to the Board of Revenue, L. P.,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department.

I AM directed to submit, for the information of Government, the following report on the administration of the Stamp Department during the three years ending the 31st March 1902.

Member in charge.
THE HON'BLE MR. BOURDILLON, C.S.I.

2. Stamp revenue during the period under report was realised under the Indian Stamp Acts, I of 1879 and II of 1899, and the Court-fees Act, VII of 1870, as amended by subsequent enactments. Act II of 1899 came into force on the 1st of July 1899.

FINANCIAL RESULTS.

9. The progress of the revenue derived from the sale of stamps during the last five triennial periods may be gathered from the following figures:—

Year.	Receipts	Charges *	Net revenue.	Percentage of increase of the net revenue of each triennium over the triennium 1887-88 to 1889-90.
1	2	3	4	5

* Exclusive of the cost of general supervision.

10. * * * * * The revenue collected under both the Stamp and Court-fees Acts during 1901-1902 amounted to Rs. 1,90,17,932 and exceeded the receipts of any other year during the triennium, being Rs. 5,83,102 more than in 1900-1901, and Rs. 7,39,044 more than in 1899-1900. The increase of revenue occurred both under judicial and non-judicial stamps. While the receipts under the former head received a set back in 1900-1901, which was, however, more than made good during the succeeding year, the receipts from the sale of non-judicial stamps increased steadily throughout the triennium. There has been a corresponding steady increase in the total charges during the past three years, although the general result shows an increase in the annual net income. The total charges during 1901-1902 amounted to Rs 4,94,012, giving an increase of 2.2 and 16.6 per cent. over the figures of 1900-1901 and 1899-1900, respectively. The increased expenditure was mainly due to the allowance of discount at more favourable rates to vendors on the sales of non-judicial stamps since the 1st April 1900.

A.—JUDICIAL STAMPS.

12. The sale proceeds of Court-fee stamps (excluding stamps for copies) fell from Rs. 1,25,11,391 in 1899-1900 to Rs. 1,23,44,307 in 1900-1901. In the subsequent year (1901-1902), however, they exceeded by Rs. 3,08,339 the receipts of 1900-1901. The increase is mainly attributed to greater activity in the Civil Courts and to the institution of suits of higher value in the Small Cause Court, in Calcutta. The enquiries held by revenue officers under section 19H (3) of the Court-fees Act, VII of 1870, as amended by Act XI of 1899, resulted in further realisations and doubtless have induced a more careful valuation by applicants for the grant of probates and letters of administration. There was an increase in the receipts from the sale of stamps for copies and of plain paper. The total receipts under the former head amounted to Rs. 7,57,815 against Rs. 6,91,462 in 1900-1901, and Rs. 6,89,119 in 1899-1900. Under the latter the total receipts amounted to Rs. 2,79,193, and compared with the receipts of the preceding two years, show an increase of Rs. 5,878 and Rs. 12,410, respectively.

B.—NON-JUDICIAL STAMPS.

13. Non-judicial stamps show an increase of revenue of Rs. 1,82,112 or 3·5 per cent. when compared with 1900-1901. The increase was shared by all classes of stamps except Foreign Bill, Share Transfer and Notarial stamps, and (to a trifling extent) one anna impressed stamps.

(a)—Impressed Stamp paper.

14. The revenue derived from the sale of impressed stamp paper (the most important item among non-judicial stamps) rose steadily during the past three years. The receipts during 1901-1902 amounted to Rs. 37,43,739 against Rs. 36,03,405 in the year 1900-1901. The increase is attributed partly to the enhanced stamp duty on perpetual leases under the new Stamp Act, and partly to the encouragement given to mufassal vendors by the more liberal rates of discount. The Commissioner of the Orissa Division specially draws attention to the increase since the conclusion of the settlement operations, in the number of sales and mortgages of occupancy rights, by which the stamp revenue has also profited.

(b)—Hundi Stamps.

15. The revenue derived from the sale of hundi or bill of exchange stamps showed a progressive increase during the past three years. The receipts during 1901-1902 were Rs. 1,32,540, and show an increase of Rs. 12,407 as compared with those of 1900-1901, and of Rs. 29,908 over those of 1899-1900. The largest increase occurred in Calcutta, and is attributed by the Collector of Calcutta to the institution of a number of criminal prosecutions in respect of unstamped hundis which had the result of enforcing a closer observance of the law.

(c)—Impressed Labels.

16. The receipts from the sale of impressed labels, which are used only in Calcutta, showed some recovery, but were still noticeably smaller than in 1899-1900. The receipts in that year were, however, abnormally large. Such increase as there was—amounting to Rs. 20,724 as compared with the receipts of 1900-1901—is attributed to the payment of stamp duty by the solicitors of the High Court on a few mortgages and conveyances of properties of large value.

17. The income from one-anna adhesive revenue stamps continues to show satisfactory results, and the revenue has improved steadily during the past three years. The receipts during 1901-1902 amounted to Rs. 4,30,191 and show an increase of Rs. 16,727 or 4·0 per cent. as compared with 1900-1901, and of Rs. 45,082 or 11·7 per cent. as compared with 1899-1900. The increase is mainly attributed to the use under the new Stamp Act of these stamps on all cheques issued by local bodies and others, irrespective of their amount. In Calcutta, however, in which the increase was largest, the result is attributed chiefly to the stringent action taken by the authorities under section 62 of Act II of 1899 on the detection of unstamped receipts. It is probable that the provisions of the law in this respect are now well known and that the importance of a stamped receipt to the payer is now more fully recognised, but it is reported that Marwari traders in particular, persistently evade the law when this can be done with safety.

(2)—Foreign Bill Stamps.

18. These stamps are sold chiefly in Calcutta for bills of exchange, cheques, and promissory notes drawn or made out of British India and chargeable with a duty of more than one anna. The receipts from this source during the past year amounted to Rs. 48,593, showing a decrease of Rs. 1,407 as compared with the results of 1900-1901 and an increase of Rs. 7,431 as compared with those of 1899-1900. No special reasons for these fluctuations are alleged.

(3)—Advocate, Vakeel and Attorney Stamps.

19. These stamps are supplied from the office of the Superintendent of Stamps, on indents made by the Registrar of the High Court, Calcutta. The amount of revenue realised during the year 1901-1902 was Rs. 17,750, or the same as in the preceding year. It shows an increase of Rs. 500 as compared with the revenue of the year 1899-1900.

(4)—Share-transfer Stamps.

20. Sales of these stamps, which are used for payment of stamp duty on transfers of the shares of public companies and associations, were effected in Calcutta, Jalpaiguri and Darjeeling. The revenue during 1901-1902 amounted to Rs. 33,037, which compared with Rs. 39,534 and Rs. 38,020, the receipts of the years 1900-1901 and 1899-1900, shows a decrease of Rs. 6,497 and Rs. 4,983 or 16·4 and 13·1 per cent., respectively. The depression in the tea industry is said to have led to fewer transactions in the share market.

(5)—Notarial Stamps.

21. These are one-rupee foreign bill stamps overprinted with the word "Notarial" under rule 15 (d) of the Rules issued with the notification of the Government of India No. 786S.R., dated the 17th February 1899. They were sold in 20 out of 46 districts during 1901-1902. The sales of the year amounted to Rs. 1,711 in comparison with Rs. 1,874 and Rs. 1,604, realised during the two previous years.

22. These stamps are impressed in the office of the Superintendent of Stamps on skeleton forms of cheques, receipts, drafts, &c., requiring a duty of one anna under the Indian Stamp Act, 11 of 1899, in accordance with rule 7 of the Rules issued with the Notification of the Government of India No. 786S.R., dated the 17th February 1899. The receipts of the year 1901-1902 from this source amounted to Rs. 53,032, against Rs. 83,045 and Rs. 77,339, the revenue of the years 1900-1901 and 1899-1900. Cheque forms of 10 different kinds issued by the Accountant-General, Bengal, for the use of Incorporated Local Funds, are impressed in the office of the Superintendent of Stamps with the one-anna stamp and issued to all treasuries in Bengal. This fact, taken with the increase in the number of skeleton forms impressed for private parties, necessitated the setting up of a fourth stamping machine, with an additional establishment.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE SALE OF STAMPS.

23. * * * * The total number of vendors employed in the sale of judicial and non-judicial stamps during the year 1901-1902, was 6,755 or an increase as compared with the previous two years. of 97 and 530 persons, respectively. There were few complaints during the years under report of difficulty or inconvenience in procuring stamps, and the sales were, on the whole, properly conducted by the licensed vendors.

The expenditure during the past year exceeded that of the preceding year by Rs. 14,428, and that of the year 1899-1900 by Rs. 69,516. As compared with 1900-1901 there was a decrease of Rs. 1,425 in respect of plain paper, and an increase of Rs. 196 and Rs. 15,657 in respect of judicial and non-judicial stamps. As compared with 1899-1900 there was a decrease of Rs. 30,770 in respect of judicial stamps and an increase of Rs. 843 and Rs. 99,443 in respect of plain paper and non-judicial stamps. The decrease in respect of judicial stamps and the increase in respect of non-judicial stamps were directly due to the revised rates of discount sanctioned with effect from the 1st April 1900, in the Resolution of the Government of India, Department of Finance and Commerce, No. 5583S.R., dated the 8th December 1899.

The rates of Rs. 4-11 and Rs. 2-9-8 per cent. allowed under those orders on certain non-judicial stamps, were reduced in Calcutta to Rs. 3-2 per cent. and Re. 1-9 per cent. respectively, and Local Governments were authorised at their discretion to make the same reduction in the case of any town with a population of 50,000 inhabitants and over. The Government of Bengal, accordingly, in their letter No. 820T.F., dated the 19th June 1902, sanctioned the extension of the reduced rates to the towns of Patna, Gaya, Chapra, Darbhanga, Dacca, Bhagalpur, Monghyr and Cuttack, and to the Sadar Stations of Howrah and the 24 Parganas. The lower rates were also extended under the orders of the Government of India to portions of the suburbs adjacent to Calcutta and to the Sadar Station of Hooghly, in which, individually, the population fell short of 50,000 inhabitants.

PUNITIVE ACTION OF THE COURTS AND REVENUE OFFICERS.

25. * * The total number of cases dealt with by the Civil Courts during the last year of the triennium was 1,507 in comparison with 1,442 in 1900-1901 and 1,447 in 1899-1900. The increase in the number of cases was insignificant, but there was an advance of Rs. 6,874 in the duty and penalty realised by the Civil Courts in comparison with the realisations of the preceding year, and of Rs. 7,476 in comparison with those of 1899-1900. There was an increase of 370 in the number of cases decided and of Rs. 7,385 in the duty and penalty realised by Revenue Officers as compared with the figures of the preceding year, and an increase of 585 in the cases decided and of Rs. 7,527 in the duty and penalty realised, in comparison with those of 1899-1900. The increase in the number of cases may denote more careful examination of documents by Civil Courts and Revenue Officers, but possibly it was due also to ignorance on the part of the public of the changes made by the new Stamp Act.

26. * * The number of cases instituted was 567, in which 497 persons were brought to trial against 513 cases and 511 persons in the preceding year, and 660 cases and 691 persons in the year 1899-1900. The fines imposed amounted to Rs. 4,047, against Rs. 5,253-8 in 1900-1901 and Rs. 5,939 in 1899-1900, while the amount distributed in rewards was Rs. 2,647 as against Rs. 4,282 in 1900-1901 and Rs. 3,684-8 in 1899-1900.

WORKING OF SECTION 19H ADDED TO THE COURT-FEES ACT, VII OF 1870, BY ACT XI OF 1899.

27. * * The enquiries conducted in order to ascertain the correct valuation of estates have led to a steady increase of revenue in the shape of deficit duty realised. On the other hand, in some districts it has led to a perceptible increase of the work of the Collectorate. Penalties were very seldom levied and enquiries seem to have been made without unnecessary harassment of the parties. Of the cases reported during 1901-1902, 75.9 per cent. were enquired into; the corresponding percentages in the two preceding years were 73.6 and 69.5. The proportion borne by the deficit duty realised to the amount originally paid was 8·8, 6·5, and 7·3, respectively, during the three years of the triennium.

* * * *

GENERAL REMARKS AND MISCELLANEOUS.

32. Reference to the High Court under section 60 (1)—Under section 60 (2) of the Indian Stamp Act, II of 1899, upon a reference from the Munsif's Court at Sirajganj whether a person taking a loan of Rs. 20 should execute two bonds of Rs. 10 each or one bond of Rs. 20, the High Court held that there was no provision in the stamp law prohibiting a person from executing two bonds instead of one, if he chose; that the Government Rules contained no such provision, and that there was no evasion of stamp duty, as the two bonds had been executed on two pieces of stamped paper of the value of two annas each, and if one bond for Rs. 20 had been executed the stamp duty would have been 4 annas only. It was, however, explained that if the loan had been of a sum of Rs. 110, and the parties had executed bonds for Rs. 100, and Rs. 10, there would have been a loss to Government. The High Court held that if this were so, and if the Government desired to prevent it, a clear provision prohibiting the practice should be inserted in the Act. As such cases are of rare occurrence and the amount involved is usually petty, the Board decided to take no action at present.

33. Reference to the High Court by the Presidency Magistrate, Calcutta.—In May 1899, on a reference to the High Court, by the Chief Presidency Magistrate of Calcutta, under section 432 of the Criminal Procedure Code, in connection with a prosecution instituted by the Collector of Stamp Revenue, Calcutta, under sections 61 and 64 of the Indian Stamp Act, I of 1879, against certain Khetra Mohan Chowdhury, and others, an important point of law was decided involving the responsibility of the partners of a firm for the acts of their servants in refusing to give receipts for money paid to them on behalf of their masters. The case has been fully reported in the Indian Law Reports, Calcutta Series, Volume XXVII, page 324.

REPORT ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE INCOME-TAX IN BENGAL DURING THE THREE YEARS ENDING THE 31ST MARCH 1902.

NOTIFICATION—No. 1789T.—F.

The 27th September 1902.—The following extracts from the Report of the Board of Revenue on the administration of the Income-tax in Bengal during the three years ending 31st March 1902, are published for general information.

E. W. COLLIN,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 971B., dated Calcutta, the 15th August 1902.

From—H. WHEELER, Esq., Secretary to the Board of Revenue, L. P.,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department.

I AM directed to submit the following report on the administration of the Income-tax in the Lower Provinces during the triennium ending on the 31st March 1902.

INCOME-TAX.

THE HON'BLE MR BOURDILLON C.S.I.

2. There has been little change during the three years under review in the system under which the tax on incomes is collected. The law in force (Act II of 1886) has undergone no modification, and the alterations in administrative details have been few.

4. For the purpose of fixing the scale of the assessing establishment, districts are classified on the basis of their average annual final demand on account of the tax during the previous five years. In this respect the following districts were advanced to higher classes during the triennium under review:—

Burdwan, Murshidabad and Darjeeling from class II (above Rs. 50,000) to class I (above Rs. 60,000);

Rangpur and Faridpur from class III (above Rs. 30,000) to class II (above Rs. 50,000);

Jalpaiguri and Manbhum from class IV (above Rs. 20,000) to class III (above Rs. 30,000); and Puri from class V (below Rs. 20,000) to class IV (above Rs. 20,000).

No district was reduced to a lower class during the same period.

5. The receipts, charges and net revenue derived from the collection of income-tax during each of the three years 1899-1900, 1900-1901, and 1901-1902 were as follows:—

		Receipts.	Charges.	Percentage of charges.	Net revenue.
		Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1901-1902	...	56,56,735	2,13,398	3·8	54,43,337
1900-1901	...	52,64,685	1,99,759	3·8	50,64,926
1899-1900	...	52,21,051	2,02,322	3·9	50,18,729
Increase or decrease as compared with the figures for 1900-1901	...	+ 3,92,050	+ 13,639	Nil	+ 3,78,411
Increase or decrease as compared with the figures for 1899-1900	...	+ 4,35,684	+ 11,076	—·1	+ 4,24,608

It will be seen that in comparison with the results of the preceding year, the net revenue for the year 1901-1902 shows an increase of 7·5 per cent., as compared with an increase of ·9 per cent. in 1900-1901.

A comparison with the results obtained in the first year after the introduction of Act II of 1886 is not without interest. The corresponding figures for the year 1886-87 are shown below:—

	Receipts.	Charges.	Percentage of charges.	Net revenue.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1886-87	40,28,441	2,84,219	7.1	37,44,222

The charges incurred during the first year of the collection of the tax upon a new system were necessarily unusually heavy, but during the 16 years for which the tax in its present shape has now been in force, the receipts have increased by 40.4 per cent., and the charges have decreased by 24.9 per cent. The net revenue in consequence shows a rise of 45.4 per cent.

6. The number of persons finally assessed to income-tax and the demand from them on this account during each year of the triennium, were as follows:—

YEAR.	NUMBER OF PERSONS FINALLY ASSESSED IN—			FINAL DEMAND IN—
	Calcutta.	Other districts.	Total of columns 2 and 3.	Calcutta.	Other districts.	Total of columns 5 and 6.

In other words, the percentages of increase in the final numbers of assesses in the year 1901-1902 as compared with the two previous years, were 3.8 and 6.3 per cent. respectively; those in the final demand, 8.2 and 10.07 per cent.

8. The following statement shows the proportion of persons assessed to the population and the villages in the Province, and the incidence of the tax during the triennium under report:—

YEAR.	PROPORTION OF PERSONS ASSESSED TO POPULATION.		PROPORTION OF PERSONS ASSESSED TO VILLAGES.		Number of persons in proportion to each rupee of tax assessed.	REMARKS.
	Persons.	Population.	Persons.	Villages.
1901-1902 ...	1	600	.61	100	14.5
1900-1901 ...	1	595	.62	100	15
1899-1900 ...	1	610	.51	100	15.3

The population statistics for 1901-1902 are based on the census totals of 1901, and those for the previous years on the figures of the census of 1891. The late census shows an increase in the population and a decrease in the number of villages, and this will account, in the main, for the fluctuations noticeable. Reverting to the results of the year 1886-87, the proportion of persons assessed was then 1 in every 677 of the population, and the incidence of the tax was only Re. 1 to every 19 of the population. The proportionate number of assesses was then returned as 40 in every hundred villages.

9. The proportion of the tax paid in Calcutta in comparison with that Rural and urban incidence of paid in the rest of the Province is exhibited the tax. below:—

YEAR.	AMOUNT OF TAX REALISED IN—
	Calcutta.	Rest of Province.	Total.
1	2	3	4
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1886-87	17,05,885	16,78,796	33,84,681
1899-1900	22,42,807	22,94,435	45,37,242
1900-1901	22,35,105	23,50,538	45,85,643
1901-1902	24,94,945	24,*38,863	49,33,808

It will be seen that during the last year under consideration Calcutta contributed 22·4 per cent. of the persons assessed, and 50·6 per cent. of the tax realised. The corresponding proportions in the year 1886-87 were 21·5 and 50·4 per cent.

11. Except in some districts in which, for special causes, one or two assessments still remained to be made, the rule was generally observed that the assessment should be completed three months before the expiry of the year. The only noticeable exceptions were the districts of Dinajpur and Jalpaiguri and the town of Calcutta. In the two former the failure was due to bad work on the part of the assessors (one of whom has since died), though it should have been possible to have detected the delay in time to remedy the defect. As regards Calcutta, the Collector of Income-tax represents that the circumstances of the town render it impossible to comply with the instructions: assessee absent themselves at the time of enquiry and certain mercantile and trading firms will not submit their returns. These difficulties are not necessarily peculiar to Calcutta, though doubtless, owing to the large number of assessee, they are felt more acutely there, and efforts will be made during the current triennium to overcome them.

12. The number of persons originally assessed and that of the petitions or objections instituted before District Officers, Commissioners, and the Board, during the triennium, are shown in the following table:—

YEAR.	Number of persons originally assessed.	Number of petitions or objections instituted before District Officers.	Number of petitions or objections instituted before Commissioners.	Number of petitions for revision of assessment filed before the Board.	Total of columns 3 to 5.
1	2	3	4	5	6
1901-1902 ...	126,064	12,114	452	10	12,576
1900-1901 ...	121,128	10,659	368	8	11,035
1899-1900 ..	118,452	10,855	395	10	11,260

The percentages of objections to assessments were, for the whole province, 10 in 1901-1902, 9·1 in 1900-1901, and 9·5 in 1899-1900. During the year 1901-1902 Cuttack shows the highest percentage (31·2), followed by Hazaribagh (20·3). During the same year the percentages were between 15 and 20 in the following districts, viz., Sonthal Parganas (18·6), Puri (18·2), Shahabad (17·7), Monghyr (16·8), Manbhum (16·8), Bhagalpur (15·9), Muzaffarpur (15·2), and Gaya (15'05). The increase of objections is usually attributed to the addition of new assesseees to the list of tax-payers. In many cases the petitions of objection were filed with a view to gain time for payment, and they were sometimes the outcome of the non-production of accounts at the time of assessment. A fair proportion of the objections came from the unrevised areas and were based on the ground that the assesseees were dead or had given up their business.

13. The figures on the margin compare the number of persons exempted on revision and the amount of tax remitted by District Officers, Commissioners, and the Board, during the triennium under report.

Exemptions and result of revision.
Year.	No. of persons exempted.				Amount of tax remitted. Rs.
1901-1902	2,008	1,7,956
1900-1901	1,658	1,49,701
1899-1900	1,732	1,32,467

14. The following statement compares the amount of the tax collected under each part of the Act during the last three year:—

YEAR.	Collection of Income-tax.				Total.
	Part I.—Salaries pensions, annuities and gratuities.	Part II.—Profits of companies.	Part III.—Interest on securities.	Part IV.—Other sources.

The percentages of increase in the total collections on account of the tax, under all parts, for the year 1901-1902, over the collections of the two previous years, were 7·6 and 8·7, respectively.

The gross collections during the year 1901-1902, including arrears of tax, penalties, &c., amounted to Rs. 51,34,559, as compared with Rs. 47,42,594 in the year 1900-1901 and Rs. 47,05,544 in 1899-1900, showing an increase of Rs. 3,91,965 and Rs. 4,29,015, or 8·3 and 9·1 per cent., respectively.

The percentage of tax collected under each part on the total amount of tax collected during the year 1901-1902, was as follows:—

Part I.—Salaries, &c.	14·6
„ II.—Profits of companies	11·3
„ III.—Interest on securities	1·5
„ IV.—Other sources	72·6

The percentage of collections on the final demand on account of tax alone during the year 1901-1902 was 96·3, as compared with 96·8 and 97·4 in the two previous years, respectively. The percentage of collections on the final demand on account of tax, penalties, &c., both current and arrear, excluding advance payments and excess collections, was 93·5, as compared with 93·8 in the year 1900-1901 and with 95·2 in the year 1899-1900. The districts of Burdwan, Birbhum, Bankura, Dacca, Tippera, Noakhali, and Darbhanga succeeded in collecting the entire demand within the year. Burdwan, Dacca, and Noakhali also appeared in the previous two years' lists, and Bankura, Tippera, and Darbhanga in that of the previous year only. Murshidabad and Backergunge nearly succeeded in collecting the entire demand, the percentage of collections in each of these two districts being 99·9. The prescribed standard of 95 per cent. was not reached in Hazaribagh, Bhagalpur and Calcutta, where the percentages were 88·3, 92·3, and 94·2, respectively. In Hazaribagh and Bhagalpur the defect is attributed to delay in the disposal of objections with the result that after orders were passed the tax could not be realized within the current year. In Calcutta the deficiency was due to the fact that assessments to the value of over a lakh and-a-quarter were made during the last three months of the year, and consequently could not be collected within it. The Board do not regard the explanations from these three districts as satisfactory, and trust that the fault noticed will not be allowed to recur.

15. The outstanding balance on account of tax, penalties and costs for the year 1901-1902, as compared with the two previous years, is shown below:—

YEAR.	BALANCE ON ACCOUNT OF—
	Tax.	Penalties.	Costs.	Total.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1901-1902	2,46,366	29,839	8,387	2,84,592
1900-1901	2,18,482	28,466	8,199	2,55,547
1899-1900	1,74,390	25,300	6,945	2,06,635

The sum of Rs. 2,84,592 includes balances on account of the previous years also, viz., Rs. 33,274 for the year 1900-1901 and Rs. 36,244 for 1899-1900. The amount due on account of the latter year has since been remitted. The balance on account of the year 1901-1902 alone, outstanding at the close of the year, was Rs. 2,15,074, as compared with Rs. 1,73,054 and Rs. 1,37,490, on account of the two previous years, outstanding at the close of those years, respectively. Of the total balance of Rs. 2,84,592, Calcutta alone returns a balance amounting to Rs. 2,26,386, as compared with Rs. 1,98,670 in 1900-1901, and Rs. 1,68,607 in 1899-1900. This unsatisfactory result is attributed to the fact that 733 assessments under Parts II and IV, amounting to Rs. 1,25,699, were made during the last quarter of the year for reasons which have already been given in paragraph 11. The Collector represents that it was found impracticable, in spite of all endeavours, to complete the assessment work within the prescribed time. Of the total balance of Rs. 2,84,592, Rs. 75,640 are reported to be under realisation, the realisation of Rs. 1,44,262 is doubtful, and Rs. 64,690 are probably irrecoverable.

16. The following statement compares the demand, collection and balance on account of penalties, fines and costs for the last three years:—

YEAR.	DEMAND.		COLLECTION.		BALANCE.		REMARKS.
	Penalties and fines.	Costs.	Penalties and fines.	Costs.	Penalties and fines.	Costs.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1901-1902	29,948	12,179	11,641	7,769	18,457	4,410
1900-1901	29,287	13,239	13,303	9,416	15,984	3,823
1899-1900	29,804	11,891	15,492	8,621	14,312	3,270

The small collection of penalties during the year 1901-1902 is due to short collections in proportion to the amount imposed, made in Calcutta and the districts of Dinajpur, Patna, Gaya, Bhagalpur and Manbhum. Coercive measures are not taken till towards the end of the year, and it is inevitable that some portion of the demand on this account should fail to be realised within the year.

17. The total expenditure during the year 1901-1902, including the cost of establishments in the Commissioners' and Board's offices and the remission allowed on the collection of tax by employers, amounted to Rs. 2,13,398, as compared with Rs. 1,99,769 in the year 1900-1901 and Rs. 2,02,322 in the year 1899-1900, showing an increase of Rs. 13,639 and Rs. 11,076, respectively.

REPORT ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE EXCISE DEPARTMENT
IN THE LOWER PROVINCES, BENGAL, DURING THE YEAR 1901-1902.

NOTIFICATION—No. 1795T.—F.

The 1st October 1902.—The following extracts from a letter from the Board of Revenue, reviewing the administration of the Excise Department in the Lower Provinces of Bengal during the year 1901-1902, are published for general information.

E. W. COLLIN,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 1015B., dated Calcutta, the 25th August 1902.

From—H. WHEELER, Esq., Secretary to the Board of Revenue, L. P.,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department.

I AM directed by the Board of Revenue to submit the annexed report received from the Commissioner of Excise, Bengal, on the administration of the Excise Department during the year 1901-1902.

Member in charge :

THE HON'BLE MR. BOURDILLON, C.S.I.

* * * *

4. The net revenue showed an increase of approximately $3\frac{3}{4}$ lakhs of rupees over the figures of the preceding year and was the largest on record. Judging by the results of the new settlements, the receipts of the current year should, in their turn, surpass those of that which preceded it. Every head showed an increase during the year under review, except those of rum and beer, although the relative importance of the different sources of revenue has undergone no material change. It is noticed that the revenue in the Chota Nagpur Division, which under the unfavourable conditions of 1900-1901 had shown some contraction, has more than made up the ground lost, and the settlements of the current year are also very favourable.

5. Collections maintained the same satisfactory standard (99·6 per cent. of the gross demand) as in the previous year.

Collections.

Attention was last year invited to the large sum of Rs. 22,000 reported to be irrecoverable on the year's demand. The total similarly reported this year is slightly larger—Rs. 23,500—but with the increased demand this is to some extent inevitable, and while the proportion of the revenue unrealised is as small as it is at present, no serious defect would appear to be indicated.

6. The settlements for 1902-1903 show an increase of some $4\frac{1}{2}$ lakhs of rupees over the results of the preceding year. Of this increase, Calcutta, where the previous triennial settlement had expired and where the new settlements showed a substantial improvement, furnished nearly $1\frac{3}{4}$ lakhs. Regarding the eleven districts which show a decrease, the explanations offered may generally be accepted as sufficient, with the exception of Cuttack (—Rs. 23,083) and Monghyr (—Rs. 9,822). With proper arrangements it should have been possible to counteract the combination among the abkars which is said to have had a prejudicial effect in the former district, and the Board are not aware of any such special deterioration in the material condition of the Monghyr district as would justify a decline of nearly Rs. 10,000. A further report will be called for from the Commissioner of Excise in both instances.

7. The only change during the year in the rate of still-head duty on distillery liquor was in the Arambagh subdivision of the district of Hooghly, where it was raised from Rs. 2 to Rs. 3 per gallon, L. P. The measure was a tentative one adopted at the instance of the Government, and it is noticeable that there was some decrease in consumption which is attributed to this cause. It is too early yet to judge of the wisdom of the step taken, and the future results will be carefully watched. Of the other districts in which the rates of duty had been changed in the preceding year, it is observed that in Burdwan and Murshidabad where it had been reduced, the increased consumption of the previous year was maintained and a further small advance recorded. In Midnapore there was a noticeable decrease, but other causes seem to have operated. Both the districts of Faridpur and Backergunge in which the rate had been raised, show a small decrease in consumption, the latter in continuation of a similar result in the previous year. The competition of cheap imported liquor is alleged to have been the cause.

In respect of the offence of illicit distillation the district of the Sonthal Parganas stands first in the Province, and the noticeable increase in the number of persons arrested on this charge during the year (766 as against 271 during 1900-1901) formed the subject of special enquiry. The Board were of opinion that some excess of zeal had been shown in the institution of prosecutions, and that one main cause of the prevalence of illicit practices lay in the fact that the price of licit liquor was beyond the means of the ordinary consumer. The chief remedy proposed was a reduction in the license-fees on the shops which it was hoped would induce a corresponding decrease in the price of liquor, and this was accepted by Government. The opening of 15 new shops in the preceding year had scarcely had the effect anticipated, although the consumption of distillery liquor exhibited some increase, and a further addition of ten was sanctioned. Some further experiments in the issue of weak liquor were also directed. The effect of these changes remains to be seen.

The second area within which the offence of illicit distillation occasions constant trouble is the Burdwan Division. From the figures of persons arrested it would seem that there was some diminution in this particular breach of the law, but the numbers arrested for smuggling outstill liquor increased from 30 to 59. Both offences recur with frequency in certain well-known localities, and the deterrent effect of the punishments which can be inflicted under the present law would seem to be small. There was also a serious instance of resistance to the police, indicative of the obstructive attitude of the villagers generally. The decrease in the number of persons arrested for illicit distillation in the district of Bankura from 49 during the preceding year to 14 is very marked, and the Board would like to receive a clearer assurance that it was due to a genuine diminution of the offence. It is curious that, so far as the figures go, the law in this respect in the district of Birbhum would appear to be scrupulously observed.

Illicit distillation is common also in Angul and the Khondmals, where 36 persons were arrested on this account during the year.

The smuggling of liquor into Jalpaiguri from Bhutan and Cooch Behar continued, and in fact showed some increase: the appointment of a special preventive staff may have a good effect. Similarly, the smuggling into Darjeeling of liquor from Sikkim and Nepal would appear to be on the increase.

8. The explanations of the fluctuations in the consumption of country rum have always been a matter of some doubt. In their review of the Excise Report for the year 1898-99, the Board discussed the question in some detail consequent on the fall in that year of nearly a lakh of rupees in the revenue under this head, and they were disposed to doubt the opinion of the Excise Commissioner that the enhanced rate of duty had not affected consumption. In the year 1899-1900 the amount of rum consumed rose by 3,191 gallons, L. P., and a review of the figures since 1892-93, when the duty was first enhanced to Rs. 5 per gallon, L. P., led to the conclusion that that change, followed by the further increase of duty to Rs. 6 per gallon, had affected the trade. It was apprehended that German white spirits might have successfully competed. During the year 1900-1901 the consumption further increased by some 1,752 gallons, L. P., and the greater popularity of rum and cheap imported liquors in comparison with country liquor was adduced as a reason. It was also thought possible that more rum from Shahjahanpur to Assam was being despatched via Calcutta instead of by the direct route. In the year at present under review, there has been a net decrease in consumption of 18,467 gallons, L. P., which effectually obliterates the two small items of increase recorded in the two preceding years. The Commissioner expresses the opinion that owing to the enhancement of duty in 1898, country spirit now successfully competes with rum, a view directly opposed to that held last year, and to the fact that exportations from Calcutta to mufassal districts increased. Moreover, the consumption of distillery liquor in Calcutta decreased in comparison with the previous year. The Superintendent of Excise Revenue, Calcutta, apprehends that Shahjahanpur rum is now sent in greater quantities to Assam direct; he also represents the difficulties in the way of any satisfactory conclusion. The figures of exportations from Calcutta to Assam certainly show a decrease, though not nearly equal to the total decline in the consumption.

9. In reviewing the results of the preceding year the Board observed that it was desirable to devise means of collecting statistics of the consumption of imported liquor in the different districts in Bengal. The subject was discussed during the year, and the conclusion finally come to was that the disadvantages attaching to any special procedure for the purpose would outweigh anything to be gained thereby. In the absence of such statistics only general conclusions can be drawn as to the spread of a taste for imported liquors and as to its effect on the revenue derived from other heads, noticeably that of country liquor. It is reported that the imported brands are growing in popularity, more especially in the districts of Eastern Bengal, and the increase in license fees obtained in the districts of Dacca, Mymensingh and Backergunge would seem to corroborate this view. In the two former districts, the revenue from country spirits was less than in the previous year, but the high price of food-grains is also mentioned as a cause. In Dacca the importation of country rum was less, and in Mymensingh it was greater, than in the preceding year. As explained last year, there are various factors tending to complicate the question.

It is observed that the importations of German white spirit decreased from 50,521 gallons in the preceding year to 45,421 gallons. The trade in this liquor formed the subject of correspondence during the year. The conclusion arrived at by the Board was that such spirit was less noxious than was popularly supposed, and that the remedy mainly required was some control over the operation of bottling it in this country, not with the object of checking the sale of this liquor, but in order to prevent customers being deceived.

10. The revenue from tari has recovered, and was in excess of that realised during the year 1899-1900, when the tree-tax system was in force. It would not seem, therefore, that the abolition of that system has prejudicially affected the revenue, although the contrary view is held by one or two Collectors. It is to be remembered, however, that the system as understood in Madras was never introduced in Bengal.

11. The additional gola at Naugaon for the storage of ganja is still under construction. Thanks to a favourable season and the cultivation of an area which, though less than in the preceding year, was considerably above the average, the outturn of ganja was the highest on record. The consequent fall in prices was very marked, and the consequent temptation to dispose of the crop illicitly led to a noticeable increase in the number of prosecutions.

12. The Commissioner of Excise is of opinion that the enhancement of the duty on bhang in certain districts of the Bhang.

Burdwan and Presidency Divisions has not affected consumption. The amount consumed showed a decrease in four out of six districts, but it was not large and is attributed to other causes. The enhanced rates led notwithstanding to larger receipts from duty.

13. The decision to remove all restrictions on the issue of opium to shops in certain districts to which limits had previously been enforced as a check upon smuggling, has apparently had a curious effect upon the sales to licensed vendors. The amount so sold in Chittagong has increased by 96 maunds, while Hooghly, Calcutta and Backergunge show a decrease of 32, 29 and 13 maunds, respectively. Chandernagore only took 9 maunds as against 42 in the preceding year. The inference is that Chittagong being more conveniently situated for access to Burma, has now become the head-quarters of the illicit trade. The preventive establishment in that district has been strengthened, but it is obvious that the exercise of special vigilance will be required.

14. Under the Board's Notification No. 37B., dated the 6th January 1902, the sale of cocaine has been prohibited, except under license for bonâ fide medical purposes. *

Cocaine.

* The number of prosecutions in Calcutta for illicit sale increased from 65 during the preceding year to 101. Judging by the prosecutions instituted, the cocaine habit has little hold outside Calcutta, but it is noticed that no cases were returned from the district of Murshidabad, Muzaffarpur and Purnea in which the use of cocaine as an intoxicant was last year believed to prevail. Special attention will be invited to the point in these districts. The number of licenses granted for the sale of cocaine in Calcutta was 101. The number of druggists' permits for the sale of opium was only 62, and it is curious that licenses for the vend of cocaine which are only issued to duly approved persons and firms should have been the more numerous. It is also noticeable that in Murshidabad and Bhagalpur, in both of which districts the misuse of the drug was last year suspected, 4 and 7 licenses respectively were granted, a number which in comparison with other districts was large. The Board will request the Excise Commissioner to make certain that licenses are only being issued to suitable persons.

15. The Board will call for a special report on the case of unlicensed sale of pachwar in the Singhbhum district noticed by the Excise Commissioner, in which 100 persons are said to have been arrested.

Total	...	83,749	0	10	1,43,864	5	1

The receipts show an increase of Rs. 63,296-8-3. There was a large increase in the earnings of the jetty at double moorings and also in port dues. The increase in expenditure is due mainly to the working expenses of the jetty and repayment of the Gekko Loan. It is satisfactory to note that Rs. 32,587 were paid during the year towards repayment of the loan due for the years 1899-1900 and 1900-1901.

2. Ten vessels, with a burden of 19,287 tons, entered the port from foreign ports during the year, against seven vessels of 14,041 tons, in the previous year, the increase being due to more vessels arriving from the United Kingdom with salt and railway materials.

There was a larger number of vessels employed in carrying jute to the United Kingdom and pilgrims to Jeddah; altogether 24 vessels, aggregating 48,459 tons, cleared for foreign ports during the year, against 15 vessels aggregating 27,921 tons in 1900-1901.

Five hundred and twelve vessels, with a tonnage of 221,070 tons, cleared for Home Ports, against 450 vessels with a tonnage of 193,652 tons during the previous year. A larger number of vessels cleared for Narayanganj and Akyab.

3. The appliances of the port and light-houses are reported to have been kept in good order during the year.

4. The jetty continued to be worked by the Assam-Bengal Railway Company under their agreement with the Port Trust. The earnings of the jetty rose from Rs. 3,545 in 1900-1901 to Rs. 47,649-1-4 during the year under review. There was, however, a corresponding increase in expenditure of Rs. 33,848-15-6. The net profit was Rs. 9,562-4-7.

5. The earnings of the S.-T. Gekko fell off from Rs. 5,941-8 in 1900-1901, to Rs. 500, during the year under review, as few sailing vessels visited the port. She was, however, largely employed in the work of the port in various other ways, and the work done by her is estimated to represent a saving of Rs. 6,000. The net expenditure on the vessel was Rs. 11,465-1-9 against Rs. 13,827-14-9 in the year before.

Pilotage Fund.

6. The subjoined table shows the position of the Pilotage Fund:—

7. The pilot service worked satisfactorily. There was only one accident during the year. It was due to the pilot allowing himself to be ruled by the Pilot Service master of the vessel. The pilot was placed on half earnings for a fortnight and was severely censured.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

d, dew; o, overcast; p, passing temporary showers; d, drizzling rain.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beekley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

2. All candidates however selected will have to undergo a course of training in the Bhagalpur Police Training School.

3. In order that candidates who do not know English, but are otherwise eligible as investigating officers, may be taught in the Police Training School, the curriculum at that institution shall be either in English or in the vernacular.

4. Examinations will be held at any one or more of the following centres in accordance with a Government notification which will be published in the Calcutta and Police Gazettes, and will determine and specify the centres at which examinations will be held and the number of appointments to be competed for at each—

At Calcutta (Senate House) for the Presidency, Rajshahi, Burdwan, and Chittagong Divisions, and for (b) class candidates of the Dacca Division; at Bankipore for the Patna, Bhagalpur, and Chota Nagpur Divisions measurement, &c., and will take the thumb-impressions, &c., as noted on the form of application. If the District Superintendent of Police finds that the candidate is of the

In case of (b) class candidates no such fee is required.

9. In the case of (a) class candidates the District Superintendent of Police will, after seeing that all the certificates are in order, issue a verification roll in the form prescribed in the Bengal Police Code, and inform the candidate that his appointment will be contingent on the enquiry into his parentage, antecedents and social standing proving satisfactory. In the case of (b) class candidates these verification rolls are not required. The District Superintendent will then send the applicant with his certificates to the Magistrate, who, after subjecting the candidate to an examination in riding, and if he pass the examination, noting the fact on the form of application, will grant him a written permission to appear at the examination.

12. At the examination a candidate will be required to sign the papers in every subject, writing his father's name and his own address on them to avoid confusion arising out of a similarity of names.

13. After the results of the examination have been ascertained, the certificates and verification rolls of passed candidates will be forwarded to the Principal of the Police Training School, Bhagalpur, and will be treated as verification rolls.

The certificates of unsuccessful candidates will be returned, if asked for, within two months, or destroyed at the end of that period.

They will, however, be liable to be transferred to any district in the Province.

17. Selected candidates, whose verification rolls have been returned as satisfactory, will undergo a 20 weeks' course of instruction at the Bhagalpur Police Training School. This course will include drill, elementary surveying, anthropometry, and instruction in prosecuting cases in Magistrates' Courts and other practical duties of an investigating officer.

18. At the end of the 20 weeks candidates obtaining a certificate of proficiency will be posted to districts as probationers for two years. If at the end of that period they are pronounced competent and fit, they will receive appointments in due course as fifth grade Sub-Inspectors. PRELIMINARY FORECAST OF THE WINTER RICE CROP OF BENGAL, 1902.

The following note is published for general information.

W. C. MACPHERSON,

Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

The 17th October 1902.

DEPARTMENT OF LAND RECORDS AND AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Preliminary Forecast of the Winter Rice Crop of Bengal, 1902.

Character of the Season.—The ante-monsoon showers were exceptionally heavy, especially in Eastern Bengal, but the monsoon broke late, and the fall in June was short, the deficiency being most marked in Bihar and Chota Nagpur. July brought good rain though there was defect in parts of Bihar and Lower Bengal. The fall in July was very heavy, while on the other hand the fall was excessive in Orissa and parts of Eastern Bengal. Transplantation was retarded by excessive rain in Eastern Bengal and by drought elsewhere; but the weather has of late been seasonable and, taken as a whole, the season is not unfavourable to the winter rice crop of the Province.

Area cultivated.—Since the issue of the final forecast of the winter rice crop of 1901, some District Officers have revised their estimates of the normal area. They now estimate the total normal area at 30,094,700 acres as compared with 30,443,600 acres finally estimated last year. The area actually put under winter rice crop this year is reported to be 29,356,500 acres against 28,404,200 acres sown last year. The failure to sow the full normal area is due to unseasonable weather during the transplantation season.

Character of the Crop.—From the summary of the district returns given in Appendix I, it will be seen that 22 out of the 45 districts in the Province report an outturn of 100 per cent. or over; in nine it is estimated to vary between 90 and 99 per cent. In eight others the estimate varies between 80 and 89 per cent., while in no case, it falls below 60 per cent. of the average. According to the estimates of the District Officers, the outturn for the Province as a whole will amount to 94 per cent. of the normal, but the district reports, which were mostly compiled early in September, do not take into account the improvement which has since taken place, and it seems probable that, if the rest of the season be favourable and especially if the Háthiya rains in Bihar do not fail, the Provincial outturn will not fall below the average.

Records and Agriculture, Bengal.*

Champanan	Sadar ..	975,945	700,900	267,000	237,000	267,000	40	115	The increase in the area and estimated outturn is due to favourable rainfall up to date. Floods have done damage along the banks of the Sikrana and Bagmati rivers. Hence taking 125 per cent to represent the highest possible outturn, I estimate this year's outturn at 115. This is on the assumption that favourable rain will fall till end of September.

The forecast for Sitamarhi would have been 16 annas, but for the floods, which destroyed a good deal of the dhas on low lands, but what has been lost is being generally replaced; though there is some scarcity of seedlings. The floods caused some loss to the dhas in the Katra thana and north Muzai-farpur also. Most of the damage done by the floods of August has been repaired by transplantations. Thanas Bonpatti, Darbhanga, Bahera, Rosera and Warranagar may still show improvement. With favourable rain in October there is hope of a 90 per cent. crop.

Owing to very scanty rain in August, transplantation was much delayed in many parts and is still scarcely finished. Probably the area under winter rice will be about 5 per cent. below the normal. The rice transplanted in proper time is doing well, but that transplanted in September will probably not be up to the average. The figures in column 8 are the revised estimates of normal areas. The figures in columns 5 and 6 have been revised.

The figures shown have been collected by the police and are impossible, and I am not prepared to accept them. An enquiry is being made and revised figures will be submitted.

The decrease in acreage is due to deficiency of rainfall at the transplanting season.

Revised figures are awaited.

PRELIMINARY FORECAST OF THE INDIGO CROP
OF BENGAL, 1902.

The following Note is published for general information.

W. C. MACPHERSON,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.
The 17th October 1902.

DEPARTMENT OF LAND RECORDS AND AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Preliminary Forecast of the Indigo crop of Bengal, 1902.

Explanatory.—The chief indigo-growing districts in this Province at present are Saran, Champaran, Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga, Monghyr, Bhagalpur, Purnea, Nadia and Murshidabad. In forecasting on this crop, it is therefore necessary to consider the character of the season in these districts only.

Character of the season.—The previous monsoon terminated very early and the winter rains failed; there was consequently serious lack of moisture in the early part of the season. There was practically no rain in February, but in March there was good rain everywhere. In Bihar, however, there were hailstorms and rain showers at the time of germination which rendered extensive re-sowing necessary. The rainfall in April was copious and general, except in Muzaffarpur, and Darbhanga where it was slightly deficient. In May also there was good rain, except in Muzaffarpur and Monghyr, though the crop in the Bengal districts suffered to some extent from storms and heavy rain. In the following month the fall was deficient throughout the indigo area, especially in Saran, Champaran and Murshidabad. Since then the rainfall has been generally heavy for the indigo crop which has suffered from water-logging in Bengal, and from floods in Darbhanga and Muzaffarpur. On the whole, the rainfall of the season has been very capricious and ill-distributed so far as indigo is concerned. Although the moderate showers of the past three months have effected some improvement in the crop in Bihar, the prospects are still among the worst on record.

Area sown.—According to the estimates sent in by the District Officers, the normal area under indigo at present in these Provinces amounts to 446,700 acres, but this estimate is evidently too high, sufficient account not having been taken by the reporting officers of the serious falling off which has taken place during recent years in the cultivation of this crop. The area sown in indigo this year is estimated by the District Officers at only 258,300 acres, as compared with 311,200 acres planted last year. The contraction is attributable to the unfavourable prospects of the industry, and also to the drought in the sowing season.

Character of the crop.—From the summary of the district returns appended to this forecast, it will appear that, except in Nadia, the crop is nowhere expected to reach the normal. The five districts of North Bihar, which claim more than two-thirds of the indigo area of this Province, anticipate only 43 per cent. of a normal crop, while the outturn for the remaining districts is estimated at 59 per cent. of the average. Purnea and Bhagalpur report a crop of 80 and 74 per cent., respectively, while Monghyr and Darbhanga forecast an outturn of 69 and 63 per cents. respectively, of a normal crop. In all other important indigo districts, the outturn is expected to vary between 25 to 43 per cent. of the normal. According to the estimates of the District Officers, the outturn for the whole Province will amount to 47 per cent. of an average crop. But the weather in September has been seasonable, and it is expected that the khoontee, or second cuttings, will yield a more favourable outturn than was at first hoped for, and I think the Provincial outturn will not ultimately fall below 50 per cent. of the average.

Gross outturn.—According to the district estimates, the total outturn in the North Bihar Districts will amount to 22,770 factory maunds, and that in the remaining area to 8,127 factory maunds. A factory maund is equal to about 75 lbs.

Messrs. Moran and Company estimate an yield of 26,000 factory maunds of indigo in North Bihar, and four to five thousand factory maunds in the remaining area. It must be borne in mind that several districts of Lower Bengal, which grow indigo on a small scale, are omitted from their calculations, and that native grown indigo presumably finds no place in their estimates. On the other hand, the returns submitted by the District Officers having been compiled before the middle of September, do not take into account the improved prospects of the second cuttings, while Messrs. Moran and Company's estimate is based on the latest information. After a full consideration of all these circumstances, I think that the yield of indigo in North Bihar this year will amount to 25,000 factory maunds, and that in Bengal to 8,000 factory maunds.

RESOLUTION ON THE ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE ORISSA
PORTS FOR THE YEAR 1901-1902.

No. 1881 Marine.

Government of Bengal.

MARINE DEPARTMENT.

Dated Calcutta, the 14th October 1902.

RESOLUTION.

Administration Report of the Orissa Ports for 1901-1902.

READ—

Letter No. 849C., dated 11th July 1902, from the Commissioner, Orissa Division, submitting the Report on the Administration of the Orissa Ports for the year 1901-1902.

Letter No. 872C., dated 16th July 1902, from the Commissioner, Orissa Division.

THE receipts, during the year under review, amounted to Rs. 13,364, against Rs. 10,032, the receipts for 1900-1901, showing an increase of Rs. 3,332. This is due to the revival at the ports of Cuttack and Puri of the rice trade with foreign ports, after cessation of the famine in the Central Provinces.

2. The expenditure amounted to Rs. 15,451, against Rs. 18,727, showing a reduction of Rs. 3,276, due mainly to the revised scale of establishment sanctioned by the Government. The reduction would have been greater but for the expenditure incurred in the purchase of a new light from England for Shortt's Island.

3. The receipts, with the opening balance, will, after covering the expenditure, leave a surplus of Rs. 8,298, and it is satisfactory to note that no contribution from Government will be required.

4. Owing to its diversion to the railway, the trade of the Orissa ports continued to decline. From Rs. 1,20,75,438 in 1899-1900, it declined in value, during the year 1900-1901, to Rs. 87,98,466, and to Rs. 82,42,330 during the year under review, although there was an increase of the export trade in Cuttack and Puri, as mentioned above. This decline in the value of the trade had no adverse effect on the revenues of the ports, which are mainly derived from Government dues on vessels, and as 228 vessels, exclusive of native craft, entered the ports, against 193 in the previous year, there was a small increase in the receipts of the ports.

5. A larger number of vessels visited the ports during the year: 228 vessels, of 137,794 tons, entered the ports in 1901-1902, against 193 ships, of 106,613 tons, which visited the ports during the previous year.

6. Since the opening of the railway, the pilgrims have generally ceased to use the sea route, which is now used mainly by local men seeking employment in Calcutta or elsewhere in Bengal.

7. The erosion of Shortt's Island continued. The new fifth-order light has been exhibited on the Island from the 1st August 1901, and is reported to give a clear and uniform light.

8. There were no cases of plague in any of the ports, while only two cases of cholera were landed from the S.S. Jatra and taken to the Pilgrim Hospital at Chandbally, where they both proved fatal.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

D. B. HORN,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVA-TIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE MONTH OF SEPTEMBER 1902.

Soon after the middle of August a period of unsettled weather commenced over the Bay. Shallow depressions formed in rapid succession, and though not causing very strong winds over the Bay, they caused general rainfall inland during their westward passage. The latter part of that month was therefore distinguished by well-marked south-west monsoon conditions over both the Bay and the Province.

These conditions continued for some time during September, and rainfall was copious in all divisions of the Province except Orissa. The probable reason for the deficiency in Orissa may be found in the course followed by the depressions. They moved more into the north-west angle of the Bay than usual; and instead of passing directly across Orissa, they skirted its northern boundary. In following that direction they moved well into the central parts of Bengal, which in consequence received frequent and at times heavy rainfall.

The most noticeable feature in the rainfall distribution is the heavy falls in the northern districts, more especially in North Bengal, where more or less heavy rain was of almost daily occurrence, even when weather was generally settled. The average fall for the whole of North Bengal was 25 inches—nearly 10 inches in excess, and in Bihar the fall was 14 inches, or 4 inches in excess.

The general rainfall was in the main due to three depressions which formed in the north of the Bay—two in the early part of the month and the third towards the end. The first was a fairly well-developed disturbance on the 1st with a centre almost due east from False Point and defect of between $\cdot 15$ and $\cdot 2$ inch in the central area, which lay over the north-west angle of the Bay. This depression followed the usual course to the north-west—very similar to that of its predecessors in August, and though rainfall was fairly general in Bengal after the passage inland, it was not heavy except at some of the western stations. While over the Bay the disturbance was slight, the strongest winds being 19 miles an hour at Diamond Island and Saugor Island on the 1st when a rather steep pressure gradient prevailed.

Pressure rose briskly on the 2nd and 3rd, and the distribution had become normal or slightly above except in the extreme south-east of the Bay, where the second disturbance was beginning. Pressure was falling in Burma; the winds were north-westerly, showing the probable approach of a low-pressure area, and very heavy rain fell at Tavoy. At that time the depression was very slight, and between the 3rd and 5th it was only faintly outlined by the coast observations. But on the 6th it was better defined over the north-west angle of the Bay, with a moderately steep gradient towards the south-east.

Up to the 6th the motion of the disturbance had been in the usual north-westerly direction: after that, however, a change occurred, which had an important influence on the rainfall distribution in Bengal. From the north-west angle it moved slowly northwards into the central districts, and there it almost entirely filled up, with general heavy rain in Bengal Proper. The period over which the rainfall due to that depression extended was from the 6th to the 11th in Lower Bengal, and somewhat longer in the northern districts.

After a rapid rise of pressure on the 9th and 10th, the depression had not only disappeared, but a moderate excess had developed over the Province. The pressure gradient over the Bay was less steep than usual, and comparatively settled weather prevailed. Rainfall was light and scattered in the southern districts, but in North Bengal heavy rain fell almost daily and at times extended westward into Bihar.

During the third week unsettled conditions reappeared over the Bay. Pressure was uniform or relatively low over the sea area, and light northerly winds continued from day to day both on the east coast and in parts of the west coast. This faint disturbance developed very slowly, and for a day or two about the 21st had almost disappeared, but from the 22nd, when the central area was near the head of the Bay, development became more rapid. The depression was still shallow on the 24th, when the centre was a short distance to the south of Saugor Island, and after rapid changes of pressure during the following 24 hours, a well-defined cyclonic disturbance was influencing weather over the Province and the head of the Bay.

The rapid deepening of the depression between the 24th and 25th is difficult to account for, but the pressure changes on the latter date were of the kind that would suggest the movement of a depression from the north-east to south-west; that is, a rapid rise of pressure was shown over Assam and North Bengal and a rapid fall in South-West Bengal and Chota Nagpur, while on the Orissa coast and apparently over the north of the Bay changes were much smaller. The heavy rainfall in North Bengal and the low temperature showed that weather was unsettled in the north-eastern districts, and the rapid steepening of the pressure gradient from north to south over the Province supports the probability that the sudden development of the disturbance between the 24th and 25th was due to the junction of two small depressions—one from the Bay and the other from the north-east.

During the 25th the depression moved rapidly northwards, and on the morning of the 26th the central area was in the west of Bihar. The course followed was probably curved, and it is probable that the centre of the depression approached the Himalayas in a north-easterly direction. On reaching the hills the disturbance, as usual, to a large extent broke up, but there followed what is not so usual: a residual depression moved eastward along or parallel to the Himalayan range, and was shown in the extreme east of the Brahmaputra valley on the 28th.

The chief features of this disturbance were (1) it caused very little squally weather over the Bay, and it was only after the development on the 25th that strongish winds were experienced near the head of the Bay; (2) in its passage northwards over the western districts, and then eastward over Bihar and North Bengal heavy rainfall was general, more especially in North Bengal, where the after effects of the disturbance were experienced.

On the 28th pressure was still low along the Himalayas, but a rapid rise followed on the 29th, and all trace of the depression had then disappeared. The month closed with high pressure over the whole area and general fine dry weather.

Pressure for the whole month was practically normal over both the Province and the Bay. In the western districts, which came more under the influence of the depressions, means are relatively somewhat lower than in the north-east, but the variation is nowhere more than .02 inch.

Depressions occurred more frequently* than usual, especially in the early part of the month, but they were shallow except in the last case, towards the end of the month, when defect in the central area was about .3 inch.

Temperature was more frequently above the normal in the southern districts, but in the north, where cloudy rainy weather was almost continuous, both maximum and minimum readings remained low, though not usually to any great extent. The variation from normal maximum temperature for the whole month varies from excess of 1° in South-West Bengal to defect of less than 1° in North Bengal. The variation in minimum temperature is very similar, but the defect extends westward into Bihar and is rather larger in North Bengal.

The mean variation was excess of 1° in South-West Bengal, Orissa, and Chota Nagpur, and defect of about 1° in North Bengal. Elsewhere mean temperature was practically normal.

Rainfall over the Province as a whole occurred in three periods except in North Bengal and the adjacent part of Bihar, where it was almost continuous and frequently heavy. In the first of these, that is, during the early days of the month, general light rainfall occurred, chiefly in the western districts because the depression to which it was due moved rapidly westward. On the second occasion about a week later the depression passed into the central districts and filled up there. In consequence the rainfall in Bengal was more general and heavy than during the previous disturbance. On the third, towards the end of the month, heavy rain fell in all parts of the Province, but more especially in the western and northern districts. The heaviest falls reported were 15 inches at Mongpoo, 12 inches at Darjeeling, Kalimpong, and Kurseong. Many stations received between 5 and 10 inches in 24 hours between the 25th and 27th, and one or two scattered stations in the western districts reported falls exceeding 10 inches.

The average fall was 25 inches in North Bengal, 13.6 in Bihar, 12.5 in East Bengal, 12 in Chota Nagpur, about 10 in South-West Bengal, and 7.3 in Orissa. These amounts are all in excess of the normal except the last, which is more than three inches in defect. Lower Bengal received about the normal amount, and there was a large excess in Chota Nagpur, Bihar, and North Bengal, especially North Bengal, where it was just under 10 inches.

The following table gives a condensed summary of the rainfall statistics of the present year up to date for each meteorological division, the first nine columns giving the actual average falls in each division for each month expressed as a percentage of the normal, while the tenth column gives the actual rainfall of the first nine months as a percentage of the normal rainfall for that period :—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

"(2) The maximum capacity allowed for any one main tank or after-peak compartment shall not exceed three thousand gallons, and that for any one main ballast tank or double-bottom compartment shall not exceed two-fifths of the total drinking-water required.

No. 2161T.G.—The 25th October 1902.—The following Resolution issued by the Government of India, in the Department of Revenue and Agriculture, is published in the Calcutta Gazette for general information.

W. O. MACPHERSON,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

† No. 25—38-11, dated Simla, the 13th October 1902.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Revenue and Agricultural Department.

RESOLUTION.—In Resolution No. 13—38-2, dated the 9th May 1902, the Government of India published extracts from an Act passed by the Commonwealth of Australia, entitled "The Immigration Restriction Act, 1901," which had for its object the restriction of the immigration of aliens into Australia. In section 6 of that Act it is provided that a prohibited immigrant within the meaning of section 3 (a) of the Act, viz., a person who cannot write in an European language at dictation, may be allowed to enter the Commonwealth if he deposits the sum of one hundred pounds. In section 6 (b) it is enacted that he must within thirty days after depositing such sum obtain from the Minister a certificate of exemption in a specified form. The Act does not, however, indicate the principles on which these certificates of exemption are to be granted. The Governor-General in Council therefore addressed an enquiry to the Australian Government on the subject, and has received the following reply, which is published for the information of Natives of India who may wish to visit Australia.

2. It will be observed from the explanation furnished by the Government of the Commonwealth that the exemptions allowed are of a purely temporary character.

From the Secretary, Department of External Affairs, Commonwealth of Australia, No. A.02-126, dated the 16th August 1902.

I have the honour to inform you that your letter of the 16th July 1902 has been referred by the Secretary, Department of Home Affairs, to me, as the Immigration Restriction Act, 1901, is administered by this Department.

In reply to your query I have to inform you that section 6 of the Act is intended to apply to cases of persons arriving in the Commonwealth and proposing to remain for a limited period only within its borders. These persons, such as merchants, servants of officers, etc., may have omitted to provide themselves beforehand with a certificate of exemption from this Government.

Those certificates are granted to persons of the classes mentioned on the Government being satisfied of their bonâ fides. They are strictly limited as to time, and on their expiry the holder must either obtain an extension (which can only be granted under special circumstances, and for a short period) or leave the Commonwealth.

As it would probably cause considerable inconvenience were the persons who have so omitted to obtain certificates refused a landing, section 6 was inserted in the Act to give them the opportunity of applying to the Government for a certificate. The deposit mentioned in section 5 is necessary in such cases to satisfy the Government as to the bonâ fides of the applicant.

6. The undertakers shall not, at any time after the commencement of this license, supply energy, or erect, or lay down, any electric lines, or works, beyond the area of supply otherwise than under a license granted by the Local Government under the Act.

If the undertakers supply energy, or erect, or lay down, electric lines, or works, in contravention of this section, the Local Government may revoke this license on such terms as it may think just.

Security and Accounts.

7. The undertakers, within a period of six months after the commencement of this license, and before exercising any of the powers by this license conferred on them in relation to the execution of works, shall show, to the satisfaction of the Local Government, that they are in a position fully and efficiently to discharge the duties and obligations imposed upon them by this license throughout the area of supply.

The undertakers shall, within six months after the commencement of this license, or such extended period as may be approved by the Local Government, and before exercising any of the powers conferred on them in relation to the execution of works, deposit, or secure, to the satisfaction of the Local Government, a sum equal to 10 per cent. of the probable outlay, subject to a limit of Rs. 20,000 in respect of the area of supply, or such sums, in respect of the several local authorities' districts, which are, wholly or partly, comprised in the area of supply, not exceeding in the aggregate twenty thousand rupees, as the Local Government may direct.

If, within any such period as aforesaid, the undertakers fail to show, to the satisfaction of the Local Government, that they are in such a position, as abovementioned, or fail to deposit or secure, such sum, or sums, as aforesaid, this license may be revoked by the Local Government as to the whole, or, with the consent of the undertakers, any part of the area affected thereby, upon such terms as it may think just.

Any sum or sums deposited or secured by the undertakers under the provisions of this section in respect of the area of supply, or of any such district, shall be repaid or released to them, from time to time, in equal moieties, when, and so soon as, it may be certified by an inspector, to be appointed by the Local Government, that amounts equal to the sums so to be repaid or released have been expended by the undertakers upon works executed for the purposes of the undertaking in such area or district, or that distributing mains have been duly laid down, in accordance with the provisions of this license, in every street, or part of a street, specified in that behalf in the second schedule, and situate in such area or district, or at such earlier dates, and by such instalments, as may, from time to time, be approved by the Local Government.

8. The undertakers shall, except with the special approval of the Local Government, to be previously given, at all times keep accounts of the capital employed for the purposes of the undertaking, distinct from the accounts kept by them in respect of any other undertaking or business.

Nature and mode of supply.

9. Subject to the provisions of this license and the Act, the undertakers may supply energy within the area of supply for all public and private purposes as defined by the Act, provided as follows :—

(a) Such energy shall be supplied only by means of some system which shall be approved of by the Local Government, and subject to such regulations and conditions for securing the safety of the public, and for insuring a proper and sufficient supply of energy, as the Local Government may, from time to time, impose.

(b) The undertakers shall, in the use of electric power for the working of any tramway under the provisions of this license, employ either insulated metallic returns, or uninsulated metallic returns of low resistance, save in the case of any tramways or tramroads worked by the undertaking in which the motive power may be entirely self-contained.

- (c) The undertakers shall take all reasonable precautions in constructing, placing, and maintaining their electric lines and circuits, and other works of all descriptions, and also in working their undertaking so as not injuriously to affect, by fusion, or electrolytic action, any gas or water-pipes, or other metallic pipes, structures, or substances.
- (d) The exercise of the powers by this license conferred, with respect to the use of electric power, shall be subject to the regulations set forth in this license, or under the said Act, and to any regulations which may be added thereto, or substituted therefor, respectively, by any order which the Local Government may make, from time to time, as, or when, they may think fit, for regulating the employment of insulated metallic returns of low resistance, for preventing fusion, or injurious electrolytic action of, or on, gas- or water-pipes or other metallic pipes, structures, or substances, and for minimising, as far as is reasonably practicable, injurious interference with the electric wires, lines, and apparatus of other parties, and the currents therein, whether such lines do, or do not, use the earth as a return.
- (e) The undertakers using electric power contrary to the provisions of this license, or to any of the regulations set forth in the said Act, or to any regulation added thereto, or substituted therefor, by any order made by the Local Government under the authority of this license, or of the said Act, shall, for every such offence, be subject to a penalty not exceeding Rs. 100, and also, in the case of a continuing offence, to a further penalty not exceeding Rs. 50, for every day during which such offence continues after conviction thereof :

Provided, always, that, whether such penalty has been recovered or not, the Local Government, in case, in their opinion, the undertakers in the use of electric power under the authority of this license, have made default in complying with the provisions of this license, or of the said Act, or with any of the regulations aforesaid, may, by order, direct the undertakers to cease to use electric power, and thereupon the undertakers shall cease to use electric power, and shall not again use the same unless with the authority of the Local Government.

- (f) The undertakers shall take all reasonable and proper precautions in constructing, placing, and maintaining their electric lines, circuits, and other works of any description, and in using their electric lines, circuits, and other works, so as not injuriously to interfere with the working of any wire, line, or apparatus from time to time used for the purpose of transmitting electric power, or of telegraphic, telephonic, or electric signalling communication, or the currents in such wire, line, or apparatus :

Provided, always, that the undertakers shall be deemed to take all such reasonable and proper precautions, as aforesaid, if, and so long as, they adopt, and employ at the option of the undertakers, either such insulated returns, or such uninsulated metallic returns of low resistance, and such other means of preventing injurious interference with the electric wires, lines, and apparatus of other parties, and the currents therein, as the Local Government shall direct; and in giving such directions, the Local Government shall have regard to the expense involved, and to the effect thereof upon the commercial prospects of the undertaking :

Provided, also, that, at the expiration of two years from the date on which the undertakers commence the public supply of electric power under the terms of this license, nothing in this sub-clause shall operate to give any right of action in respect of, or to protect any electric wires, lines, or apparatus, or the currents therein, unless, in the construction, erection, maintaining and working of such wires, lines, and apparatus, all reasonable and proper precautions, including the use of an insulated return, have been taken to prevent injurious interference therewith, and with the currents therein, by or from other electric currents.

If any difference arises between the undertakers and any other party with respect to anything in this sub-clause contained, such difference shall, unless the parties otherwise agree be determined by the Local Government, or at the option of the Local Government, by an arbitrator to be appointed by the Local Government, and the costs of such determination shall be in the discretion of the Local Government, or of the arbitrator, as the case may be.

- (g) Nothing in this sub-section shall apply to the use of any electric wire, circuit, or work, of the undertakers used, or intended to be used, for the supply of energy for electric lighting purposes, or for the purpose of providing motive power for domestic use, so far as such use is limited to such purposes.

Works.

10. Subject to the provisions of this license and the Act, the undertakers may, from time to time, exercise all or any of the powers conferred on them by this license and the Act, and may break up such streets not repairable by the Local Government or by the local authority, and such railways, tramways, and bridges (if any), as are specified in the third schedule, and open and break up any sewers, drains, or tunnels within, or under, such streets, railways, tramways, and bridges, so far as such streets, railways, tramways, and bridges may, for the time being, be included in the area of supply, and be, or be upon, land dedicated to public use: Provided, however, as respects any such railway, that the powers hereby granted shall extend only to such parts thereof as pass across, or along, any highway on the level.

Subject, as aforesaid, the undertakers may also, from time to time, construct distributing boxes in any street for the purpose of supplying energy. Every such distributing box shall be for the exclusive use of the undertakers, and under their sole control, except so far as the Local Government may otherwise order, and shall be used by the undertakers only for the purpose of leading off service lines and other distributing conductors, or for examining, testing, regulating, measuring, converting, directing, or controlling the supply of energy, or for examining or testing the condition of the mains or other portions of the works, or for other like purposes connected with the undertaking, and the undertakers may place therein meters, switches, and any other suitable and proper apparatus for any of the above purposes, and may maintain and use the same. All work in connection with such distributing boxes shall be done at such times, and in such manner, as will cause as little obstruction and inconvenience as circumstances permit.

11. The undertakers shall not, without the express consent of the Local Government, place any electric line above ground, along, over, or across any street.

If the undertakers place any electric lines in contravention of this section, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees for every such offence, and in the case of a continuing offence, to a further penalty not exceeding fifty rupees for every day after the first day during which such offence continues.

11A. Whenever the undertakers shall, with such consent as aforesaid, place any electric line above ground along, over, or across any street, they shall pay to the Corporation of Calcutta for every pole whereon such line shall be supported or carried along, over, or across such street, the annual rent of one rupee; and for every tripod whereon such line shall be so supported or carried, as aforesaid, the annual rent of two rupees; such rent to be paid on the first day of January in every year without deduction.

12. Where the exercise of any of the powers of the undertakers in relation to the execution of any works (including the construction of distributing boxes) will involve the placing of any works in, under, along, or across any street or public bridge, repairable by the Local Government or by the local authority, the following provision shall have effect:—

- (a) One month before commencing the execution of such works (not being the repairs renewals, or amendments of existing works of which the character and position are not altered), the undertakers shall serve the notice upon the Local Government or the local authority, prescribed by section 7 of the Act, describing the proposed works, together with a plan of the works, showing the mode and position in which such works are intended to be executed, and the manner in which it is intended that such street or bridge, or any sewer, drain, or tunnel therein or thereunder, is to be interfered with, and shall, upon being required to do so by the Local Government or the local authority, from time to time, give it, or them, any such further information in relation thereto as it, or they, may desire.
- (b) The Local Government or the local authority may, in its, or their, discretion, approve of any such works or plan, subject to such amendments or conditions as may seem fit, or may disapprove the same, and may give notice of such approval or disapproval to the undertakers.
- (c) If the Local Government or the local authority fail to give any such notice of approval or disapproval to the undertakers within one month after the service of the notice upon them, it, or they, shall be deemed to have approved such works and plan.
- (d) Notwithstanding anything in this license or the Act, the undertakers shall not be entitled to execute any such works as above specified, except so far as the same may be of a description, and in accordance with a plan, which has been approved, or is to be deemed to have been approved, by the Local Government and the local authority as abovementioned, under this license; but where any such works and such plan are so approved, or to be deemed to be approved, the undertakers may cause such works to be executed in accordance with such plan, subject, in all respects, to the provisions of this license and of the Act.
- (e) If the undertakers make default in complying with any of the requirements or restrictions of this section, they shall (in addition to any other compensation which they may be liable to make under the provisions of this license or the Act) make full compensation to the Local Government and the local authority for any loss or damage which it, or they, may incur by reason thereof, and in addition thereto they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees for every such default, and, in the case of a continuing offence, to a further penalty not exceeding fifty rupees for every day after the first day during which such default continues: Provided that the undertakers shall not be subject to any such penalties as aforesaid if the court, having cognizance of the case, shall be of opinion that the case was one of emergency, and that the undertakers complied with the requirements of this section so far as was reasonable under the circumstances.

For the purposes of this license the word "plan" shall be held to mean a plan drawn to a horizontal scale of at least 1 inch to 100 feet, and a section drawn to a vertical scale of at least 1 inch to 10 feet, with such detail, plan, and section as may be necessary.

13. Where the exercise of the powers of the undertakers in relation to the execution of any works will involve the placing of any works in, under, along, or across any street, or part of a street, not repairable by the Local Government or the local authority, or over or under any railway, tramway, or canal, the following provisions shall have effect, unless otherwise agreed between the parties interested:—

As to breaking up streets not repairable by Local Government or local authority, railways, and tramways.

- (a) Fourteen days before commencing the execution of any such works (not being the repairs, renewals, or amendments of existing works of which the character and position are not altered), the undertakers shall, in addition to any other notices which they may be required to give under this license or the Act, serve a notice upon the body or person liable to repair such street, or part of a street, or the body or person for the time being entitled to work such railway or tramway, or the owners of such canal (as the case may be), in this section referred to as the "owners," describing the proposed works, and stating the amount of compensation (if any) proposed to be made in respect thereof, and the manner in which such compensation is proposed to be paid or secured, together with a plan of the works, showing the mode and position in which such works are intended to be executed and placed, and shall, upon being required to do so by any such owners, from time to time, give them any such further information in relation thereto as they may desire.
- (b) Every such notice shall contain a reference to this section, and direct the attention of the owners to whom it is given to the provisions thereof.
- (c) Within one month after the service of any such notice and plan upon any owners, such owners may, if they think fit, serve a requisition upon the undertakers requiring that any question in relation to such works and any other question arising upon such notice or plan as aforesaid shall be settled by arbitration; and thereupon such question shall be settled by arbitration accordingly.
- (d) In settling any question under this section, an arbitrator shall have regard to any duties or obligations which the owners may be under in respect of such street, railway, tramway, or canal, and may, if he thinks fit, require the undertakers to execute any temporary or other works, so as to avoid any interference with any traffic, so far as may be possible.
- (e) Where no such requisition, as in this section mentioned, is served upon the undertakers, or where, after any such requisition has been served upon them, any question required to be settled by arbitration has been so settled, the undertakers may, upon paying or securing any compensation which they may be required to pay or secure in the manner proposed by them, or settled by arbitration as aforesaid, cause to be executed the works specified in such notice and plan as aforesaid, and may, from time to time, repair, renew, and amend the same (provided that their character and position are not altered), but subject, in all respects, to the provisions of this license and the Act, and only in accordance with the notice and plan so served by them as aforesaid, or such modifications thereof, respectively, as may have been settled by arbitration, as hereinbefore mentioned, or as may be agreed upon between the parties.
- (f) If the undertakers make default in complying with any of the requirements or restrictions of this section, they shall (in addition to any other compensation which they may be liable to make under the provisions of this license or the Act) make full compensation to the owners effected thereby for any loss or damage which they may incur by reason thereof, and in addition thereto they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees for every such default, and, in the case of a continuing offence, to a further penalty not exceeding fifty rupees for every day after the first day during which such default continues: Provided that the undertakers shall not be subject to any such penalties, as aforesaid, if the court, having cognizance of the case, shall be of opinion that the case was one of emergency, and that the undertakers complied with the requirements of this section, so far as was reasonable under the circumstances.

14. The undertakers may, from time to time, alter the position of any pipes (not forming part of any main sewer of the local authority), or any wires, being under any street or place authorised to be broken up by them, which may interfere with the exercise of their powers under the Act or this license; and anybody or person may, in like manner, alter the position of any electric lines or works of the undertakers, being under any such street or place, as aforesaid, which may interfere with the lawful exercise of any powers vested in such body or person in relation to such street or place, subject to the following provisions, unless otherwise agreed between the parties interested:—

- (a) Fourteen days before commencing any such alteration, the undertakers, or such body or person (as the case may be), in this section referred to as "the operators," shall serve a notice upon the body or person for the time being entitled to such pipes, wires, electric lines, or works (as the case may be), in this section referred to as "the owners," describing the proposed alteration, and stating the amount of compensation (if any) proposed to be made in respect thereof, and the manner in which such compensation (if any) is proposed to be paid or secured, together with a plan showing the manner in which it is intended that such alterations shall be made, and shall, upon being required to do so by any such owners, from time to time, give them any such further information in relation thereto as they may desire.
- (b) Within seven days after the service of any such notice and plan upon any owners, such owners may, if they think fit, serve a requisition upon the operators requiring that any question in relation to such works, or any other question arising upon such notice or plan, as aforesaid, shall be settled by arbitration, and thereupon such question shall be settled by arbitration accordingly.
- (c) In settling any question under this section, an arbitrator shall have regard to any duties or obligations which the owners may be under in respect of such pipes, wires, electric lines or works, and may, if he thinks fit, require the operators to execute any temporary or other works, so as to avoid interference with any purpose for which such pipes, wires, electric lines, or works are used, so far as may be possible.
- (d) Where no such requisition, as in this section mentioned, is served upon the operators, the owners shall be held to have agreed to the notice or plan served on them as aforesaid, and in such case, or where, after any such requisition has been served upon them, any question required to be settled by arbitration has been so settled, the operators, upon paying or securing any compensation which they may be required to pay or secure in the manner proposed by them, or settled by arbitration, as aforesaid, may cause the alterations specified in such notice and plan, as aforesaid, to be made, but subject, in all respects, to the provisions of this license and the Act, and only in accordance with the notice and plan so served by them, as aforesaid, or such modifications thereof, respectively, as may have been settled by arbitration, as hereinbefore mentioned, or as may be agreed upon between the parties.
- (e) At any time, before any operators are entitled to commence any such alterations as aforesaid, the owners may serve a statement upon the operators, stating that they desire to execute such alterations themselves, and where any such statement has been served upon the operators, they shall not be entitled to proceed, themselves, to execute such alteration, except where they have notified to such owners that they require them to execute such alterations, and such owners have refused or neglected to comply with such notification, as hereinafter provided.
- (f) Where any such statement, as last aforesaid, has been served upon the operators, they shall, not more than forty-eight hours, and not less than twenty-four hours before the execution of such alterations is required to be commenced, serve a notification upon the owners, stating the time when such alterations are required to be commenced, and the manner in which such alterations are required to be made.
- (g) Upon receipt of any such notification as last aforesaid, the owners may proceed to execute such alterations as required by the operators, subject to the like restrictions and conditions as the operators would themselves be subject to in executing such alterations, so far as the same may be applicable.
- (h) If the owners decline, or, for twenty-four hours after the time when any such alterations are required to be commenced, neglect to comply with such notification, the operators may, themselves, proceed to execute such alterations, in like manner as they might have done if no such statement, as aforesaid, had been served upon them.

- (i) Expenses incurred by any owners in complying with any notification of any operators under the last preceding sub-sections shall be repaid to them by such operators, and may be recovered through a court of competent jurisdiction.
- (j) Any owners may, if they think fit, by any statement served by them upon any operators under this section, require the operators to give them such security for the repayment to them of any expenses to be incurred by them in executing any alterations as abovementioned as may be agreed upon between such owners and operators, or, in default of agreement, as may be determined by arbitration, and where any operators have been so required to give security, they shall not be entitled to serve a notification upon the owners requiring them to execute such alterations until such security has been duly given.
- (k) If the operators make default in complying with any of the requirements or restrictions of this section, they shall (in addition to any other compensation which they may be liable to make under the provisions of this license or the Act) make full compensation to the owners affected thereby for any loss, damage, or penalty which they may incur by reason thereof, and, in addition thereto, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees for every such default, and, in the case of a continuing offence, to a further penalty not exceeding fifty rupees for every day after the first day during which such default continues: Provided that the operators shall not be subject to any such additional penalties, as aforesaid, if the Court, having cognizance of the case, shall be of opinion that the case was one of emergency, and that the operators complied with the requirements of this section so far as was reasonable under the circumstances.

15. Whenever the undertakers require to dig or sink any trench for laying down any new electric lines (other than service lines), or other works, near to which any pipe, sewer, drain, watercourse, defence, or work under the jurisdiction or control of the Local Government, or of any local authority, or belonging to any duly authorized Company, or any branch, or service pipe for the supply of gas or water, has been lawfully placed, or where any duly authorized Company requires to dig, or sink, any trench for laying down any new mains or pipes other than service pipes, or other apparatus, near to which any lines or works of the undertakers have been lawfully placed, the undertakers, or such duly authorised Company (as the case may be) in this section referred to as the "operators," shall, unless otherwise agreed between the parties interested, give to the Local Government or local authority, or to such only authorized Company, or to the undertakers (as the case may be), in this section referred to as the "owners," not more than forty-eight hours, and not less than twenty-four hours' notice before commencing to dig or sink such trench as aforesaid, and such owners shall be entitled, by their officer, to superintend the digging or sinking of such trench, and the operators shall conform with such reasonable requirements as may, from time to time, be made by the owners, or such officer, for the protection of every such sewer, drain, watercourse, defence, pipe, electric line, or work, and for securing the same from injury, and they shall also, if required to do so by the owners thereof, repair any damage that may be done thereto.

If the operators make default in complying with any of the requirements or restrictions of this section, they shall make full compensation to all owners affected thereby for any loss or damage which they may incur by reason thereof, and, in addition thereto, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees for every such default, and, in the case of a continuing offence, to a further penalty not exceeding fifty rupees for every day after the first day during which such default continues: Provided that the operators shall not be subject to any such penalty if the court, having cognizance of the case, shall be of opinion that the case was one of emergency, and that the operators complied with the requirements and restrictions of this section, as far as was reasonable under the circumstances, or that the default in question was due to the fact that the operators were ignorant of the position of the sewer, drain, watercourse, defence, pipe, electric line, or work affected thereby, and that such ignorance was not owing to any negligence on the part of the operators.

16. Seven days before commencing to lay down, or place, any electric line, or to use any electric line in any manner, whereby the work of telegraphic, or telephonic, or electric signalling communication through any wire or line, lawfully laid down, or placed in any position, may be injuriously affected, the undertakers shall, unless otherwise agreed between the parties interested, give to the owner of such wire or line, notice in writing, specifying the course, nature and gauge of such electric line, and the manner in which such electric line is intended to be used, and the amount and nature of the currents intended to be transmitted thereby, and the extent to, and manner in which (if at all), earth returns are proposed to be used, and any owner entitled to receive such notice, may, from time to time, serve a requisition in the undertakers, requiring them to adopt such precautions as may be therein specified in regard to the laying, placing, or user of such electric line, for the purpose of preventing such injurious affection; and the undertakers shall conform with such reasonable requirements as may be made by such owner for the purpose of preventing the communication through such wire or line from being injuriously affected, as aforesaid.

If any difference arises between any such owner and the undertakers with respect to the reasonableness of any requirements so made, such difference shall be determined by arbitration:

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall apply to repairs or renewals of any electric line, so long as the course, nature, and gauge of such electric line, and the amount and nature of the current transmitted thereby, are not altered.

If the undertakers make default in complying with any of the requirements or restrictions of this section, they shall make full compensation to the body or person entitled to any such wire or line, for any loss or damage which they may incur by reason thereof, and, in addition thereto, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding fifty rupees for every such default, and, in the case of a continuing offence, to a further penalty not exceeding twenty rupees for every day after the first day during which such default continues: Provided that the undertakers shall not be subject to any such penalties as aforesaid if the Court, having cognizance of the case, shall be of opinion that the case was one of emergency, and that the undertakers complied with the requirements and restrictions of this section so far as was reasonable under the circumstances, or that the default in question was due to the fact that the undertakers were ignorant of the position of the wires or lines affected thereby, and that such ignorance was not owing to any negligence on the part of the undertakers.

Compulsory works.

17. The undertakers shall, within a period of two years after the commencement of this license, lay down suitable and sufficient distributing mains for the purposes of general supply throughout every street, or part of a street, specified in that behalf in the second schedule, and shall thereafter maintain the same.

18. In addition to the mains specified in the last preceding section, the undertakers shall, at any time after the expiration of eighteen months after the commencement of this order, lay down suitable and sufficient distributing mains, for the purposes of general supply, throughout every other street, or part of a street, within the area of supply, upon being required to do so in manner by this license provided.

All such mains as last abovementioned shall be laid down by the undertakers within six months after any requisition in that behalf served upon them in accordance with the provisions of this license has become binding upon them, or such further time as may, in any case, be approved of by the Local Government.

19. If the undertakers make default in laying down any mains in accordance with the provisions of this license within the periods prescribed in that behalf, respectively, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding fifty rupees in respect of each such default for each day during which such default continues, and, if the Local Government are of opinion in any case, that such default is wilful, and unreasonably prolonged, they may themselves, or upon the application of the local authority, revoke this license as to the whole, or with the consent of the undertakers, any part of the area of supply, or, if the undertakers so desire, may, after having given an opportunity to the local authority to make representations and objections with reference thereto, suffer the same to remain in force as to such area or part thereof, subject to such conditions as they may think fit to impose, and any conditions so imposed shall be binding on, and observed by, the undertakers, and shall be of the like force and effect in every respect as though they were contained in this license.

20. Any requisition requiring the undertakers to lay down distributing mains for the purposes of general supply throughout any street, or part of a street, under the last preceding sections, may be made by six or more owners or occupiers of premises along such street, or part of a street, or, where the Local Government or the local authority has the control and management of the public lamps in such street, or part of a street, by the Local Government or the local authority.

Every such requisition shall be signed by the owners and occupiers making such requisition, or by the Local Government or the local authority (as the case may be), and shall be served upon the undertakers.

Forms of requisition shall be kept by the undertakers at their office, and a copy shall be supplied, free of charge, to any owner or occupier of premises within the area of supply, and to the Local Government and the local authority, on applying for the same, and any requisition so supplied shall be deemed valid in point of form.

21. When any such requisition is made by any such owners or occupiers, as aforesaid, the undertakers (if they think fit) may, within fourteen days after the service of the requisition upon them, serve a notice on all the persons by whom such requisition is signed, stating that they decline to be bound by such requisition, unless such persons, or some of them, will bind themselves to take a supply of energy for three years, of such amount in the aggregate (to be specified by the undertakers in such notice) as will, at the rates of charge for the time being charged by the undertakers for a supply of energy from distributing mains to ordinary consumers within the area of supply, produce, annually, such reasonable sum as shall be specified by the undertakers in such notice: Provided that, in such notice, the undertakers shall not be required to specify any sum amounting to less than twenty per centum upon the expense of providing, and laying down, the required distributing mains, and any other mains, or additions to existing mains, which may be necessary for the purpose of connecting such distributing mains with the nearest available source of supply.

Where such notice is served, the requisition shall not be binding on the undertakers unless, within fourteen days after the service of such notice on all the persons signing the requisition has been effected, or, in the case of difference, the delivery of the arbitrator's award, there be tendered to the undertakers an agreement, severally executed by such persons or some of them, binding them to take, for a period of three years at the least, such specified amounts of energy, respectively, as will, in the aggregate, at the rates of charge above specified, produce an annual sum amounting to not less than twenty per centum upon the expense of providing and laying down such distributing mains, or other mains, as above-mentioned, nor unless sufficient security for the payment, to the undertakers, of all moneys which may become due to them from such persons under such agreement, is offered to the undertakers (if required by them by such notice, as aforesaid) within the period limited for the tender of the agreement as aforesaid.

If any difference arises between the undertakers and any persons signing any such requisition as to the reasonableness of the amount specified by the undertakers in their notice, or as to the sufficiency of any security offered to them under the section, such difference shall be determined by arbitration.

22. Where any such requisition is made by the Local Government or the local authority, it shall not be binding on the undertakers unless, at the time when such service is effected, or within fourteen days thereafter, there be tendered to the undertakers (if required by them) an agreement executed by the Local Government or the local authority, and binding them to take, for a period of three years at the least, a supply of energy for lighting such public lamps in the street, or part of a street, in respect of which such requisition is made, as may be under their management or control.

23. The undertakers shall forthwith, after commencing to supply energy under this license, cause a map to be made of the area of supply on a horizontal scale of at least 1 inch to 100 feet, and shall cause to be marked thereon the line of all their then existing mains, service lines, and other underground works and distributing boxes, and shall, once in every year, cause such map to be corrected, and such additions to be made thereto, as will show the line of all their then existing mains, service lines, and other underground works and distributing boxes.

24. Every map so made, or corrected, for the undertakers, or a copy thereof, with the date expressed thereon of the last time when it was so corrected, shall be kept by the undertakers at their principal office within the area of supply, and a copy of every such map shall, within one month after such map is made or corrected, be served by the undertakers upon the Local Government and upon the local authority.

Every copy of the said map, as last corrected, which may be served upon the local authority, shall be kept by them at their office, and shall, at all reasonable times, be open to the inspection of all applicants, and such applicants may take copies of the same or any part thereof. The local authority may demand, and take from every such applicant, as aforesaid, such fee, not exceeding one rupee, for each inspection of such map or copy, and such further fee, not exceeding one rupee, for each copy of the same, or any part thereof, taken by such applicant, as they may, from time to time, prescribe.

25. If the undertakers fail to comply with any of the requirements of the last preceding sections of this license with respect to maps, they shall, for every such offence, be liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees, and to a further penalty not exceeding twenty rupees for every day, after the first day, during which such offence continues.

Testing.

26. The Local Government shall, from time to time, appoint, and keep appointed, one or more competent and impartial persons to be electric inspectors for the purpose of inspecting electric lines and works, and of certifying meters under this order.

27. The Local Government shall pay to every electric inspector appointed under this license such reasonable remuneration (if any) as they may, from time to time, determine, and such remuneration may be in addition to, or in substitution for, any fees which are directed to be paid to electric inspectors for services rendered by them under this license, as may be settled by the authority by whom such remuneration is determined: Provided that, where any such remuneration is settled to be in substitution for such fees as aforesaid, such fees shall, in lieu of being paid to such electric inspector for his own use, be due, and paid to him on behalf, and for the use of the Local Government, and shall be deposited by them in the public treasury.

28. Every electric inspector, if and when required to do so by the authority by whom he is appointed, shall, from time to time, test, for insulation and conductivity, any portion of any main of the undertakers within the area of supply through which energy is, or is intended to be, supplied by them: Provided that such testing shall not be made in regard to any particular portion of a main oftener than once in any three months, unless in pursuance of a special order in that behalf made by the Local Government.

29. Every electric inspector, if and when required to do so by any person supplied with energy by the undertakers, shall, from time to time, test, for insulation and conductivity, any service lines by which such energy is supplied, and the efficiency of any joints in such service lines and make such other tests in relation to such service lines as may, from time to time, be approved of by the Local Government.

30. Notice shall be given to the undertakers before the commencement of any testing by an electric inspector, and such testing shall be carried out at such suitable hours as, in the opinion of such inspector, will least interfere with the supply of energy by the undertakers, and in such manner as such inspector may think expedient, but, except under the provisions of a special order in that behalf made by the Local Government, he shall not be entitled to have access to, or interfere with, the mains of the undertakers at any points other than those at which the undertakers have reserved for themselves access to the said mains: Provided that the undertakers shall not be held responsible for any interruption in the supply of energy which may be occasioned by, or required by such inspector for the purpose of any such testing as aforesaid.

31. Every electric inspector shall, on the day immediately following that on which any testing has been completed by him under this license, make, and deliver, a report of the results of his testing, to the authority or person by whom he was required to make such testing, and to the undertakers, and such report shall be receivable in evidence.

If the undertakers or any authority, company, or person are, or is, dissatisfied with any report of any electric inspector, they may appeal to the Local Government against such report, and thereupon the Local Government shall enquire into, and decide upon, the matter of any such appeal, and their decision shall be final and binding on all parties.

32. The undertakers shall, at such places within a reasonable distance from any distributing main, establish, at their own cost, such reasonable number of testing stations as the Local Government shall deem sufficient, for testing the supply of energy by the undertakers through such main, and shall place thereat proper and suitable instruments of a pattern to be approved by the Local Government, and shall connect such stations, by means of proper and sufficient electric lines, with such mains, and supply energy thereto, for the purpose of such testing.

33. The undertakers shall set up, and keep upon all premises from which they supply energy by any distributing mains, such suitable and proper instruments of such pattern and construction as may be, from time to time, approved of, or prescribed by, the Local Government, and shall, from time to time, take, and record, and keep recorded, such observations as the Local Government, from time to time, prescribe, and any observations so recorded shall be receivable in evidence.

34. The undertakers shall keep in efficient working order all instruments which they are required by, or under, this license, to place, set up, or keep at any testing station, or on their own premises, and any electric inspector appointed under this license, may from time to time, examine and record the readings of such instruments at such times, and in such manner, as he may be directed by the authority by whom he is appointed, and any readings so recorded shall be receivable in evidence.

35. Any electric inspector appointed under this license shall have the right to have access, at all reasonable hours, to the testing places and premises of the undertakers, for the purpose of testing the electric lines and instruments of the undertakers, and ascertaining if the same are in order, and in case the same are not in order, he may require the undertakers forthwith to have the same put in order.

36. The undertakers may, if they think fit, on each occasion of the testing of any main or service line, or the testing or inspection of any instruments of the undertakers by any electric inspector, be represented by some officer or other agent, but such officer or agent shall not interfere with the testing or inspection.

37. All expenses of testing by an electric inspector, including such reasonable fees to the electric inspector as may, from time to time, be prescribed in that behalf by the local authority, with the approval of the Local Government, shall be paid by the undertakers, unless the report of the electric inspector, or, in the case of an appeal, the decision of the Local Government, shows that the local authority, or anybody or person supplied with energy, was guilty of any default or negligence, and in such case the expenses of the testing, including such fees as aforesaid shall be ascertained by a court of competent jurisdiction and paid by such local authority, body, or person as the court shall direct.

33. The undertakers shall afford all facilities for the proper execution of this license with respect to testing and the readings and inspection of instruments, and shall comply with all the requirements of or under this license in that behalf, and in case the undertakers make default in complying with any of the provisions of this section, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding fifty rupees, and, in the case of a continuing offence, to a further penalty not exceeding ten rupees for every day, after the first day, during which such offence continues.

39. If, at any time, it appears to the Local Government that any mains, electric lines, or works of the undertakers are defective, and not in accordance with the regulations and conditions subject to which the undertakers are, for the time being, authorised to supply energy under this license, the Local Government may, by order in writing, require the undertakers to remedy such defect, so as to comply with such regulations and conditions, within such period as may be therein limited in that behalf, and, if the undertakers make default in remedying such defect within the time so limited, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding two hundred rupees for every day during which such default continues: provided that if such defect is, in the opinion of the Local Government, dangerous to public safety, they may also, by any such order, as aforesaid, forbid the use of such main, electric line, or work, from such date as may be specified in that behalf, until the defect is remedied, and, if the undertakers make use of any such main, electric line, or work, while the use thereof is so forbidden, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one thousand rupees for every day during which such uses continue.

Supply.

40. The undertakers shall, upon being required to do so by the owners or occupiers of any premises situate within fifty yards from any distributing main of the undertakers in which they are, for the time being, required to maintain a supply of energy for the purposes of general supply to private consumers under this license, or any regulations and conditions subject to which they are authorised to supply energy under this license, give, and continue to give, a supply of energy for such premises, in accordance with the provisions of this license, and of all such regulations and conditions, as aforesaid, and they shall furnish, and lay any electric lines that may be necessary for the purpose of supplying the maximum power with which any such owner or occupier may be entitled to be supplied under this license, subject to the conditions following (that is to say), the cost of so much of any electric line for the supply of energy to any owner or occupier as may be laid upon the property of such owner or in the possession of such occupier, and of so much of any such electric lines as may be laid for a greater distance than sixty feet from any distributing main of the undertakers, although not on such property, shall be defrayed by such owner or occupier.

41. Every owner or occupier of premises requiring a supply of energy shall —

- (a) serve a notice upon the undertakers, specifying the premises in respect of which such supply is required, and the maximum power required to be supplied, and the day (not being an earlier day than a reasonable time after the date of the service of such notice) upon which such supply is required to commence; and
- (b) enter into a written contract with the undertakers (if required by them so to do) to continue to receive, and pay for, a supply of energy for a period of at least three years, of such an amount, that the rent payable for the same at the rate of charge for the time being charged by the undertakers for a supply of energy to ordinary consumers within the area of supply, shall not be less than twenty rupees per centum per annum on the outlay incurred by the undertakers in providing any electric lines required to be provided by them for the purpose of such supply, and give to the undertakers (if required by them so to do) security for the payment to them of all moneys which may, from time to time, become due to them by such owner or occupier in respect of any electric lines to be furnished by the undertakers, and in respect of energy to be supplied by them:

Provided, always, that the undertakers may, after they have given a supply of energy for any premises, by notice in writing, require the owner or occupier of such premises, within seven days after the date of the service of such notice, to give to them security for the payment of all moneys which may, from time to time, become due to them in respect of such supply, in case such owner or occupier has not already given such security, or in case any security given has become invalid, or is insufficient; and in case any such owner or occupier fail to comply with the terms of such notice, the undertakers may, if they think fit, discontinue to supply energy for such premises so long as such failure continues:

Provided, also, that if the owner or occupier of any such premises, as aforesaid, uses any form of lamp or burner, or uses the energy supplied to him by the undertakers for any purposes, or deals with it in any manner so as to unduly or improperly interfere with the efficient supply of energy to any other body or person by the undertakers, the undertakers may, if they think fit, discontinue to supply energy to such premises so long as such user continues :

Provided, also, that the undertakers shall not be compelled to give a supply of energy to any premises unless they are reasonably satisfied that the electric lines, fittings, and works therein are in good order and condition, and not calculated to affect, injuriously, the use of energy by the undertakers or by other persons :

Provided, also, that in the event of any alterations of, or additions to, any electric lines, fittings, or works within such premises, as aforesaid, all such alterations or additions shall be notified to the undertakers by the occupiers before being connected to the source of supply, with a view to their being examined and tested.

If any difference arises between any such owner or occupier and the undertakers as to the reasonableness of the amount of any security required to be given, or as to the sufficiency of any security offered under this section, or as to the improper use of energy, or as to any alleged defect in any lines, fittings, or works, such difference shall be determined by arbitration.

42. The maximum power with which any such consumer shall be entitled to be supplied shall be of such amount as he may, from time to time, require to be supplied with, not exceeding what may be reasonably anticipated as the maximum consumption on his premises :

Maximum power.

Provided that, where any consumer has required the undertakers to supply him with a maximum power of any specified amount, he shall not be entitled to alter that maximum, except upon one month's notice to the undertakers, and any expenses incurred by the undertakers in respect of the service lines by which energy is supplied to the premises, of such consumer, or any fittings or apparatus of the undertakers upon such premises, consequent upon such alteration, shall be paid by him to the undertakers, and may be recovered summarily as a civil debt.

If any difference arises between any such owner or occupier and the undertakers as to what may be reasonably anticipated as the consumption on his premises, such difference shall be determined by arbitration.

43. The undertakers, upon receiving reasonable notice from the Local Government or the local authority, requiring them to supply energy to any public lamps within the distance of seventy-five yards from any distributing main of the undertakers in which they are, for the time being, required to maintain a current of energy for the purposes of general supply under this license, or any regulations and conditions subject to which they are authorised to supply energy under this license, shall give, and continue to give, a supply of energy to such lamps in such quantities as the Local Government or the local authority may, from time to time require to be supplied.

Supply of energy to public lamps.

44. Whenever the undertakers make default in supplying energy to any owner or occupier of premises to whom they may be, and are, required to supply energy, under this license, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty rupees in respect of every such default for each day during which any such default occurs.

Penalty for failure to supply.

Whenever the undertakers make default in supplying energy to the public lamps to which they may be, and are, required to supply energy, under this license, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty rupees in respect of every such default for each such lamp, and for each day during which any such default occurs.

Whenever the undertakers make default in supplying energy in accordance with the terms of any regulations and conditions subject to which they are authorized to supply energy under this license, they shall be liable to such penalties as may, by such regulations and conditions, be prescribed in that behalf :

Provided, always, that when such default is due to cyclones, or floods, or storms, or other causes not under the control of, or due to default of, the undertakers, no penalty shall be enforced if the undertakers show due diligence in resuming the supply :

Provided that the penalties to be inflicted on the undertakers under this section shall in no case exceed, in the aggregate, the sum of five hundred rupees in respect of any defaults not being wilful defaults on the part of the undertakers for any one day, and provided, also, that in no case shall any penalty be inflicted in respect of any default if the court, having cognizance of the case, shall be of opinion that such default was caused by inevitable accident, or force majeure, or was of so slight or unimportant a character as not materially to affect the value of the supply.

Price.

45. The undertakers may charge for energy supplied by them to any ordinary consumer (otherwise than by agreement)—

Methods of charging.

- (1) by the actual amount of energy so supplied ; or
- (2) by the electrical amount contained in such supply ; unless the Local Government, from time to time, otherwise direct ; or
- (3) by the number of hours during which the supply of energy is actually used by such consumer, and the maximum power with which he is, for the time being, entitled to be supplied.

Provided that, before commencing to supply energy through any distributing main for the purposes of general supply, the undertakers shall give notice to the Local Government, and to the local authority, by what method they propose to charge for energy supplied through such main; and where the undertakers have given any such notice, they shall not be entitled to change such method of charging, except after one month's notice of such change has been given by them to the Local Government, and the local authority, and to every consumer of energy who is supplied by them from such main:

Provided, also, that when the undertakers have given notice to any consumer of charging him by the number of hours, and the maximum power, in manner above described such consumer, if he objects to that method of charge, may, by one month's notice in writing, require the undertakers to charge him by the actual quantity of energy supplied to him, and thereafter the undertakers shall not, except with the consumer's consent, charge him by any other method.

46. The prices to be charged by the undertakers for energy supplied by them shall not exceed those stated in that behalf in the fourth schedule, in the first, second, and third sections thereof, respectively:

Maximum prices.

Provided that, if the Local Government are of opinion that, or the local authority, or the undertakers shall, at any time after the expiration of seven years after the commencement of this license, make a representation to the Local Government that the prices, or methods of charge stated in the said schedule ought to be altered, the Local Government, after such enquiry as they may think fit, may make an order varying the prices, or methods of charge, in lieu thereof, and the prices, or methods of charge so varied, or substituted, shall have effect on, and after, such day as may be mentioned in the order, as if they had been stated in the said schedule: Provided, also, that the prices, and methods of charge for the time being in force, may be altered, in like manner, at any time after the expiration of any, or every, period of seven years after the same were last altered.

cases where he is entitled to require a supply, the undertakers may make any agreement with a consumer as to the price to be charged for energy, and the mode in which such charges are to be ascertained, and may charge accordingly.

48. The price to be charged by the undertakers, and to be paid to them for all energy supplied to the public lamps, and the mode in which such charges shall be ascertained, shall be settled by agreement between the Local Government or local authority and the undertakers, as the case may be, and, in the event of difference, by arbitration, regard being had to the circumstances of the case, and the distributing, or other mains (if any) which may have to be laid for the purpose, and the prices charged to ordinary consumers in the district.

Meters and Apparatus.

Meters to be used except by agreement.

(according to the method by which the undertakers elect to charge), in this license referred to as "the value of the supply," shall, except as otherwise agreed between such consumer and the undertakers, be ascertained by means of an appropriate meter, duly certified under the provisions of this license.

under this license, to be of some construction and pattern, and to have been fixed, and to have been connected with the service lines, in some manner approved of by the Local Government, and to be a correct meter; and every such meter is, in this order, referred to as a "certified meter." Provided that where any alteration is made in any certified meter, or where any such meter is unfixed, or disconnected from, the service lines, such meter shall cease to be a certified meter unless, and until, it be again certified as a certified meter under the provisions of this license.

51. Every electric inspector, who may be required by the undertakers, or by any consumer, to examine any meter for the purpose of certifying the same as a certified meter under the provisions of this license, shall be entitled to demand, from the undertakers, or consumer, so requiring him and to be paid, such fees as may, from time to time, be determined, in that behalf, by the Local Government, before commencing such examination, and every electric inspector shall, upon being required so to do by the undertakers, or any such consumer, as aforesaid, examine any meter situate within the district for which he is appointed, if such fees are offered to him, as aforesaid, and shall certify the same as a certified meter if he considers it entitled to be so certified.

required so to do by the consumer, supply him with an appropriate meter, and shall, if required so to do, fix the same upon the premises of the consumer, and connect the service lines therewith, and procure such meter to be duly certified under the provisions of this license, and, for such purposes, may authorize and empower any officer or person to enter upon such premises, and execute all necessary works, and do all necessary acts: Provided that, previously to supplying any such meter, the undertakers may require such consumer to pay to them a reasonable sum in respect of the price of such meter, or to give security therefor, or may require him to enter into an agreement for the hire of such meter as hereinafter provided, and also to pay to them a reasonable sum in respect of the expenses of fixing such meter, and connecting it with the service lines, and procuring the same to be certified under this license.

If any difference arises between the undertakers and any consumer under this section, such difference shall be determined by arbitration.

53. No consumer shall connect any meter used, or to be used, under this license, for ascertaining the value of the supply, with any electric line through which energy is supplied by the undertakers, or disconnect any such meter from any such electric line, unless he has given, to the undertakers, not less than forty-eight hours' notice in writing of his intention so to do, and if any person acts in contravention of this section, he shall be liable, for each offence to a penalty not exceeding twenty rupees.

Meters not to be connected or disconnected without notice.

54. Every consumer of energy supplied by the undertakers shall, at all times, at his own expense, keep all meters belonging to him, whereby the value of the supply is, under this license, to be ascertained, in proper order for correctly registering such value, and, in default of his so doing, the undertakers may cease to supply energy through such meter.

Consumer to keep his meter in proper order.

The undertakers shall have access to, and be at liberty to take off, remove, test, inspect, and replace, any such meter at all reasonable times: Provided that all reasonable expenses of, and incident to, any such taking off, removing, testing, inspecting and replacing, and the procuring such meter to be again duly certified where such re-certifying is thereby rendered necessary, shall, if the meter be found to be not in proper order, be paid by the consumer, but if the same be in proper order, all expenses connected therewith shall be paid by the undertakers.

55. The undertakers may let for hire any meter for ascertaining the value of the supply, and any fittings thereto, and any other apparatus required for their undertaking for such remuneration in money, and on such terms, with respect to the repair of such meter, or apparatus, and fittings, and for securing the safety and return, to the undertakers, of such meter, or apparatus, and fittings, as may be agreed upon between the hirer and the undertakers, or, in case of difference, be decided by the Local Government, and such remuneration shall be recoverable by the undertakers summarily as a civil debt.

Power to the undertakers to let meter.

56. The undertakers shall, unless the agreement of hire otherwise provides, at all times, at their own expense, keep all meters, let for hire by them to any consumer, whereby the value of the supply is ascertained, in proper order for correctly registering such value, and, in default of their so doing, the consumer shall not be liable to pay rent for the same during such time as such default continues. The undertakers, shall, for the purposes aforesaid, have access to, and be at liberty to remove, test, inspect, and replace, any such meter at all reasonable times: Provided that the expenses of procuring any such meter to be again duly certified, where such re-certifying is, thereby, rendered necessary, shall be paid by the undertakers.

Undertakers to keep meter let for hire in repair.

57. If any difference arises between any consumer and the undertakers as to whether any meter, whereby the value of the supply is ascertained (whether belonging to such consumer or the undertakers) is, or is not, in proper order for correctly registering such value or as to whether such value, has been correctly registered, in any case, by any meter, such difference shall be determined, upon the application of either party, by an electric inspector, or, where the Local Government, are the consumers, by an officer to be appointed by the Local Government, who shall also order by which of the parties the costs of the proceedings before him shall be paid, and the decision of such inspector or officer shall be final and binding on all parties. Subject, as aforesaid, the register of the meter shall be conclusive evidence, in the absence of fraud, of the value of the supply.

Differences as to correctness of meter to be settled by inspector, or Local Government officer.

58. Where any consumer who is supplied with energy by the undertakers from any distributing main is provided with a certified meter for the purpose of ascertaining the value of the supply, and the undertakers change the method of charging for energy supplied by them from such main, the undertakers shall pay to such consumer the reasonable expenses to which he may be put in providing a new meter for the purpose of ascertaining the value of the supply according to such new method of charging, and such expenses may be recovered by the consumer from the undertakers summarily as a civil debt.

Undertakers to pay expenses of providing new meters where method of charge altered.

59. In addition to any meter which may be placed upon the premises of any consumer to ascertain the value of the supply, the undertakers may, from time to time, place upon his premises such meter, or other apparatus, as they may desire, for the purpose of ascertaining or regulating either the amount of energy supplied to such consumer, or the number of hours during which such supply is given, or the maximum amount of such supply, or any other quantity, or time, connected therewith: Provided that such meter shall be of

60. Notices, orders, and other documents under this license may be in writing or in print, or partly in writing and partly in print, and where any notice, order, or document requires authentication by the local authority, the signature thereof by the Chairman or Secretary to the local authority shall be sufficient authentication.

61. Any notice, order, or document, required or authorised to be served upon any body or person under this license or the Act, may be served by the same being addressed to such body or person, and being left at, or transmitted through the post to, the following addresses, respectively:—

- (a) In the case of the Local Government, the office of the Secretary in the Public Works Department.

A notice, order, or document, by this license required, or authorised, to be served on the owner, or occupier, of any of the premises, shall be deemed to be properly addressed if addressed by the description of the "owner" or "occupier" of the premises (naming the premises) without further name or description.

A notice, order, or document, by this license required, or authorised, to be served on the owner, or occupier, of premises, may be served by delivering the same, or a true copy thereof to some person on the premises, or if there is no person on the premises to whom the same can, with reasonable diligence, be delivered, by fixing the notice on some conspicuous part of the premises.

61A. If this license shall not be renewed at the end of the period for which it is hereby granted, the following provision shall have effect:—

- (a) The local authority, or the Local Government, if they think fit, may, by notice in writing, require the undertakers to sell, and thereupon the undertakers shall sell to them the undertaking, or such part of it as is within the area of supply, upon terms of paying the then value of all lands, buildings, works, materials, and plant of the undertakers, suitable to and used by them, for the purposes of the undertaking within such area, or part thereof; such value being agreed, or estimated by arbitration, on the basis of the value of the undertaking as a going concern.
- (b) If no purchase is effected by the Local Government or the local authority under the provisions aforesaid, the undertakers shall be at liberty to sell and dispose of the said undertaking, and all lands, buildings, works, materials, and plant, of the undertakers, to such persons, and in such manner, as to the undertakers, may seem fit, in their absolute discretion.

64. In addition to any other powers which the Local Government may have in that behalf, they may revoke this license at any time with the consent and concurrence of the undertakers and the local authority of the area (if any) upon such terms as the Local Government may think just.

- (d) Where any purchase is effected, or any transfer is directed under the preceding provisions of this section, the undertaking, or part thereof, so purchased or transferred, shall vest in the purchasers or transferees thereof, freed from any debts, mortgages, or similar obligations of the undertakers, or attaching to the undertaking; and the revocation of this license, as to the whole of the area of supply or such part thereof, as aforesaid, shall extend only to the revocation of the rights, powers, authorities, duties, and obligations of the undertakers from whom the undertaking, or such part thereof, as aforesaid, is purchased or transferred, in relation to the supply of energy within such area, or part thereof, and, save as aforesaid, this license shall remain in full force within such area, or part thereof, in favour of the Local Government, or local authority, Company, or person, by, or to whom such undertaking, or part thereof, is purchased or transferred, as aforesaid.
- (e) Where no purchase has been effected, and no transfer has been directed under the preceding provisions of this section, the Local Government, the local authority, or anybody or person, who may be liable to repair any street, or part of a street, in which any works of the undertakers may have been placed, may forthwith remove such works with all reasonable care, and the undertakers shall pay, to the Local Government, the local authority, or other such body or person, as aforesaid, such reasonable costs of such removal, and of the reinstatement of such street, or part of a street, as may be specified in a notice to be served on the undertakers by the Local Government, the local authority, or other body or person, or (if so required by the undertakers, within one week after the service of such notice upon them) as may be settled by arbitration.

If the undertakers fail to pay such reasonable costs, as aforesaid, within one month after the service upon them of such notice, or the delivery of the award of the arbitrator (as the case may be), the Local Government, the local authority, or other such body or person, as aforesaid, may, without any previous notice to the undertakers (but without prejudice to any other remedy which they may have for the recovery of the amount), sell and dispose of any such works, as aforesaid, either by public auction, or private sale, and for such sum or sums, and to such person or persons, as they may think fit, and may, out of the proceeds of such sale, pay and reimburse themselves the amount of the costs so specified or settled, as aforesaid, and of the costs of sale, and the balance (if any) of the proceeds of the sale shall be paid over by them to the undertakers.

- (f) In case the Local Government, the local authority, or any body or person, may be entitled to compensation for any damage sustained by them by reason, or in consequence of the execution of any works within such area, or part thereof, as aforesaid, or the exercise of any powers, by this license granted to the undertakers, or for any expenses to which such local authority, body, or person, may have been put in removing any works of the undertakers within such area, or part thereof, under the provisions of this license, such compensation shall be a first charge on any money that may have been deposited or secured, by the undertakers, under the provisions of this license, in respect of such area, or part thereof, and which may not have been repaid or released to the undertakers, and such money shall be applied rateably in satisfying such claims, and in every such case the amount of compensation to be paid, in respect of the various claims, and the persons to whom it is to be paid, shall be determined by arbitration.

General conditions.

1. Tenders should be superscribed "Tender for paper," and should be accompanied by a deposit of one per cent. on the value of the tender. This deposit should be paid into the Bank of Madras, and its receipt attached to the tender. In cases where tenderers may deposit Government Promissory notes, they should endorse the same payable to the "Collector and Superintendent of Stationery, Madras."

2. Tenderers should send six sheets of each description of paper tendered as a sample, marking clearly thereon the manufacturer's name and the description, size and weight. They should be flat, not folded.

3. The papers should be delivered at the Stationery Office, Beach, Madras, at the cost and risk of the contractor.

4. The successful tenderer or tenderers will be required to pay a security of 10 per cent on the value of the paper for which the tender is accepted, and to sign a contract bond (a form of which will be furnished by this office for inspection) within 20 days from the date of his being informed by this office of the acceptance of his tender; and in case of failure, his deposit delivered with the tender will be forfeited and credited to Government and his tender considered as cancelled.

5. The necessary stamp duty on the contract bond must be paid by the contractors.

6. The quantities specified in the above schedule are only probable requirements: actual demands will be mentioned in the orders given from time to time, agreeably to which contractors will be required to supply the articles.

7. Blotting paper should be packed and supplied in tin lined dealwood cases. Other papers should be well packed in strong canvas with bale planks and iron hoops. These should be unfolded, and each quire in a ream packet should be distinctly marked or separated by a slip of coloured paper, each ream being tied with string. Each ream should also have a label pasted on the outer wrapper showing the description of the paper. All bales of each description and size of paper should contain a uniform number of reams, and no bale should exceed 500 lbs. in weight. Each ream of Printing, Cartridge and Badami papers should contain 500 sheets. Each bale should be superscribed with the description and size of paper and the number of reams it contains.

8. All consignments of paper will be examined after arrival at Madras, and will be liable to rejection if inferior in any respect to the accepted sample. The decision of the Superintendent of Stationery in this matter is final: recourse to arbitration cannot be permitted.

9. All papers must be free from any mixture of mechanical wood pulp.

10. In cases of necessity the contractors must undertake to store the consignments in their own godowns for a period not exceeding three months at their risk and free of charge.

11. In the event of a consignment being rejected, the contractors will be required to remove it at once and replace it within a month from the date of intimation of rejection.

12. Considerations of the quality of the paper tendered and of its price will alone guide the Superintendent in his decisions, but he reserves to himself the right, without assigning any reason, of rejecting any tender in whole or in part, and in respect of articles, rates, quantities or other particulars, etc.

13. Forms of tender and any further information can be obtained on application to the Superintendent of Stationery, Madras.

J. TWIGG,

Ag. Superintendent of Stationery.

Stationery Office, Madras, 23rd October 1902.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

SANITARY.

PLAGUE.

The 25th October 1902.

No. 2278.—In the Notification of the Government of India in the Home Department, No. 2073, dated the 14th November 1901, it was ordered, under the powers conferred by section 2, sub-section (1), of the Epidemic Diseases Act, 1879 (III of 1897), that the pilgrimage to the Hedjaz during the season of 1902 might be permitted, except in the case of persons residing in the Presidency of Bombay (excluding the whole of Sind except the Karachi district), in the Salem and Bellary districts of the Madras Presidency, in Coorg, in the Sialkot, Jullundar, Gurdaspur, Ludiana, and Hoshiarpur districts of the Punjab, in the Bonares Division and the Allahabad district of the United Provinces, in Calcutta, the Burdwan and Patna Divisions and the Huzaribagh district of the Chota Nagpur Division in Bengal and in the Native States of Mysore, Baroda, Kashmir and Patiala, subject to certain precautions and restrictions, and that no person should be allowed to embark with the object of making a pilgrimage to Mecca, except at the ports of Porbandar in the Presidency of Bombay and of Chittagong in Bengal.

2. The foregoing regulations were made in pursuance of the policy to which the Government of India have adhered for the past four pilgrim seasons, of prohibiting the departure to the Hedjaz of any person resident within an area infected with plague. This policy was at no time agreeable to the Government of India. They regretted the restrictions thus imposed upon the liberty of His Majesty's Muhammadan subjects in the discharge of a religious duty, and they acquiesced reluctantly in the imposition of such restrictions, only because of the necessity of deferring to the apprehensions of certain European Powers that plague might be conveyed to Europe through the medium of Indian pilgrims.

3. The Governor-General in Council has therefore much pleasure in announcing that His Majesty's Government has, on the representation of the Government of India, consented to the removal, during the ensuing season, of the restrictions heretofore imposed on the departure of pilgrims from plague-infected areas. The Haj will accordingly be open during the season of 1902-1903 to any resident of India, subject to the regulations hereinafter laid down.

4. The orders contained in the Home Department Notification No. 2073, dated the 14th November 1901, are hereby cancelled.

5. The Governor-General in Council is pleased to direct—

(1) That no person shall be permitted to embark with the object of making a pilgrimage to Mecca except at the ports of Bombay and Karachi in the Presidency of Bombay, of Chittagong in the Province Bengal, and such port, if any, in the Presidency of Madras, as may be notified by the Government of Madras in this behalf.

(2) That no person shall be permitted to embark for such purpose at such port unless he has been kept under observation in a place appointed for the purpose until such time as the Medical Officer in charge shall be satisfied that all risk of such person conveying the infection of plague has completely abated, and unless such person is conveyed from the place of observation to the place of embarkation under the charge of an officer appointed for the purpose.

(3) That no passage tickets for the Hedjaz shall be sold except at the places appointed for the detention of intending pilgrims under observation.

6. Although they have decided that, subject to the foregoing precautions, the pilgrimage to the Hedjaz may be permitted, the Government of India think it necessary to repeat the warning given last year, that intending pilgrims will be well advised in deferring the fulfilment of their purpose until another season, in view especially of the stringent quarantine rules imposed by the Turkish Government and of the inconvenience and harassment to which it is likely that they will be subjected on arriving in Arabia.

General conditions.

1. Tenders should be superscribed "Tender for paper," and should be accompanied by a deposit of one per cent. on the value of the tender. This deposit should be paid into the Bank of Madras, and its receipt attached to the tender. In cases where tenderers may deposit Government Promissory notes, they should endorse the same payable to the "Collector and Superintendent of Stationery, Madras."

2. Tenderers should send six sheets of each description of paper tendered as a sample, marking clearly thereon the manufacturer's name and the description, size and weight. They should be flat, not folded.

3. The papers should be delivered at the Stationery Office, Beach, Madras, at the cost and risk of the contractor.

4. The successful tenderer or tenderers will be required to pay a security of 10 per cent on the value of the paper for which the tender is accepted, and to sign a contract bond (a form of which will be furnished by this office for inspection) within 20 days from the date of his being informed by this office of the acceptance of his tender; and in case of failure, his deposit delivered with the tender will be forfeited and credited to Government and his tender considered as cancelled.

5. The necessary stamp duty on the contract bond must be paid by the contractors.

6. The quantities specified in the above schedule are only probable requirements: actual demands will be mentioned in the orders given from time to time, agreeably to which contractors will be required to supply the articles.

7. Blotting paper should be packed and supplied in tin lined dealwood cases. Other papers should be well packed in strong canvas with bale planks and iron hoops. These should be unfolded, and each quire in a ream packet should be distinctly marked or separated by a slip of coloured paper, each ream being tied with string. Each ream should also have a label pasted on the outer wrapper showing the description of the paper. All bales of each description and size of paper should contain a uniform number of reams, and no bale should exceed 500 lbs. in weight. Each ream of Printing, Cartridge and Badami papers should contain 500 sheets. Each bale should be superscribed with the description and size of paper and the number of reams it contains.

8. All consignments of paper will be examined after arrival at Madras, and will be liable to rejection if inferior in any respect to the accepted sample. The decision of the Superintendent of Stationery in this matter is final: recourse to arbitration cannot be permitted.

9. All papers must be free from any mixture of mechanical wood pulp.

10. In cases of necessity the contractors must undertake to store the consignments in their own godowns for a period not exceeding three months at their risk and free of charge.

11. In the event of a consignment being rejected, the contractors will be required to remove it at once and replace it within a month from the date of intimation of rejection.

12. Considerations of the quality of the paper tendered and of its price will alone guide the Superintendent in his decisions, but he reserves to himself the right, without assigning any reason, of rejecting any tender in whole or in part, and in respect of articles, rates, quantities or other particulars, etc.

13. Forms of tender and any further information can be obtained on application to the Superintendent of Stationery, Madras.

PART VI.

Bills introduced into the Council of the Governor General for making Laws and Regulations, or published under Rule 23.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 24th October, 1902.

NO. 11 OF 1902.

A Bill further to amend the Indian Ports Act, 1889.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Indian Ports Act, 1889; It is hereby enacted as follows:

1. This Act may be called the Indian Ports (Amendment) Act, 1902.
Short title.

2. In section 47 of the Indian Ports Act, 1889, the proviso shall be omitted; and for section 48 of the said Act the following section shall be substituted, namely:

Amendment of section 47, and substitution of new section for section 48, Act X, 1889.

Port-dues not to be chargeable in certain cases.

"48. No port-due shall be chargeable in respect of—

(a) any pleasure-yacht, nor

(b) any vessel which, having left any port, is compelled to re-enter it by stress of weather or in consequence of having sustained any damage, nor

(c) any vessel which, having entered any port within the territories administered by the Governor of Port Saint George in Council, leaves it within forty-eight hours without discharging or taking in any passengers or cargo."

3. For the first entry in the fourth column of Part I of the First Schedule to the said Act, the following entry shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new entry for entry in column 4, Part I, First Schedule, Act X, 1889.

"Whenever the vessel enters the port, except in the case of mail-steamers and coasting-vessels, which shall not be chargeable more than once in sixty days."

4. To Explanation I of Part II of the said Schedule to the said Act, the following proviso shall be added, namely:

Addition of proviso to Explanation I, Part II First Schedule, Act X, 1889.

"Provided that, for the purpose of the levy of port-dues, a vessel shall not be deemed, during one and the same voyage, to be both a coasting ship or steamer and a foreign ship or steamer, but port-dues shall, in respect of such voyage, be leviable on such vessel either as a coasting or as a foreign ship or steamer, whichever rate is the higher."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE present Bill aims at correcting three defects of a formal character which have been brought to notice in the working of the Indian Ports Act, 1889 (X of 1889).

(1) The exemption allowed by the proviso to section 47 might, in spite of the generality of the term "vessel," be regarded as not including vessels "in ballast," which are dealt with separately in section 46. As there is no reason for excluding vessels in ballast from the exemption, it is considered safer to re-enact the proviso as part of an independent section.

(2) The first entry in the fourth column of Part I of the First Schedule opposite the port of Calcutta requires revision in order to bring it into accordance with actual practice under which port-dues are levied on coasting-vessels entering that port only once in sixty days. The existing exception of "dhonies and country vessels" is not adapted to modern conditions. The new entry proposed by the Bill will substitute a more liberal provision on the lines of the corresponding entry against Chittagong under which both mail-steamers and coasting-vessels will only have to pay port-dues once in sixty days.

(3) The necessity for the addition of a proviso to Explanation I to Part II of the same Schedule, under which it is possible for a vessel to be classified as "foreign" and also as "coasting" during one and the same voyage, was suggested by an opinion of the Advocate General of Madras, in pursuance of which it is sought to render it clear that such a vessel is liable to the levy of port-dues on either scale, whichever is the higher, but not on both scales cumulatively.

2. The Report is contained in four volumes, of which the first three form Volumes VI to VIB of the Imperial Series.

The Report, tables and other information compiled.

The first volume comprises the Report Proper, the second contains the Imperial Tables in which the district is the unit, and the third the Provincial Tables, in which the unit is the Police circle; the fourth volume, which is the Administrative Report, gives a full account of the procedure adopted in taking the census and in compiling the results, matter which on the occasion of each previous census has been included in the Report Proper. In addition to the abovenamed volumes the Census Superintendent has supplied to each district manuscript volumes of village Census Tables, with an index, giving for each "village" and "mauza" the population by sex and religion. Volumes have also been prepared showing in alphabetical order the classification adopted under the heads (a) language, (b) caste, (c) occupations; these volumes, and another which contains specimens of all forms used throughout the operations, are likely to prove most useful at the next census. Mr. Gait also reports that he has caused to be paged, indexed and bound up, the various reports on the subjects of caste, sub-caste, marriage customs, language, Hindu religion, and Muhammadanism which contain much information that has not been utilised in the Census Report, but which may hereafter prove to be useful.

3. Mr. Gait has summarised in the Introduction to his Report the important facts connected (1) with the work of the enumeration, and (2) with the compilation of the figures recorded in the schedules; and it will suffice to mention here under the first head that the arrangements made were very similar to those of 1891, but that the number of enumerators excluding Calcutta and the Feudatory States in 1901 was 384,000 against 315,000 in 1891, and of supervisors 28,000 as against 26,000. Under the head of compilation it must be mentioned that the "slip system" which has long been in use in census work in other countries was, for the first time, adopted under the orders of the Census Commissioner, Mr. Risley, in a Bengal Census in 1901; the innovation was a complete success both in expediting the work of compilation and also in reduction of cost.

A very detailed examination of the district tables was made by the Superintendent and by his head office. Mr. Gait himself classified all castes, languages and occupations, as he explains in his Administrative Report, and also made a detailed check of the figures of marriage by caste for all castes and all districts. The tabulation for all the earlier tables was checked throughout item by item, and the testing of the caste and occupation tables, though not so complete, was still very thorough; lastly, all entries which disclosed marked differences in comparison with those of 1891, or which seemed to be open to doubt, were worked out de novo.

The total cost of the census just taken in Bengal has been about Rs. 3,90,000 as against about Rs. 7,00,000 expended over the census of 1891. The large reduction of cost is due mainly to the introduction of the slip system, but partly also to the employment of establishment on lower pay and to improved record room arrangements.

4. The Report is well arranged, and lucidly written and it indicates remarkable knowledge of the Province and its people. The general description of the Province and the historical retrospect in Chapter I, the account of the religions of Bengal in Chapter IV, the learned disquisition on the languages and castes of the Province in Chapters X and XI especially deserve the attention of scholars and will attract very general interest. The Report is longer than usual, but it is not diffuse and its length is amply vindicated on page V of the Introduction where Mr. Gait points out the vastness of the population of Bengal which is a quarter of that of the whole of India and the greatly varying conditions of caste, language, religion and social customs which distinguish the different parts of the Province. The Report is not only a store-house of information, but it is suggestive and inspiring, and it will undoubtedly prove the starting point of much future research.

In the Imperial Tables the districts have been grouped according to Commissioners' Divisions, but in the Report Proper and in the subsidiary tables, the districts have been arranged in eight natural divisions which correspond nearly but not exactly with the divisions adopted by Mr. O'Donnell in his Census Report for 1891, save that Mr. Gait takes the Presidency Division excluding Khulna away from Western Bengal, and makes it into a division which he calls Central Bengal. This is a suitable arrangement; Mr. Gait's reasons for departing from Mr. O'Donnell's arrangement are given in paragraph 40 of his Report. The statistics for the eight natural divisions are ordinarily taken in the Report as the units for discussion, and the figures for individual districts are dealt with only in Chapter II which treats of the variations in the population, and also in special places where such separate treatment is required.

Another feature of the Report which is deserving of special notice consists of the small maps and diagrams printed with the letter-press. Those which illustrate the Chapter on castes have been prepared on the system recommended by Mr. Jacques Bertillon as explained in paragraph 622 of the Report. These diagrams illustrate the statistics very graphically, and the use of similar diagrams in future reports may be commended.

5. Turning to the results of the census, it has first to be noticed that of the natural divisions Central Bengal has the greatest density of population, viz., 775 persons to the square mile. Of districts, Howrah with 1,668 persons to the square mile is the most thickly peopled and then follow Dacca with 952 persons, and Muzaffarpur and Saran with 917 and 907 persons to the square mile, respectively: the Chota Nagpur plateau is the area of least dense population, with only 152 to the square mile. The general increase of the population during the decade has been 5.1 per cent. against 7 per cent. in the previous decade. East Bengal with an increase of 10.4 per cent. is the most progressive part of the Province and the general result of this census and of the preceding census is to show that the centre of population of the Province is moving towards the east and south.

It appears from the Report that from 1872 to 1891 there was a steady improvement in the accuracy of the enumeration, and that part of the increases brought out by the Censuses of 1881 and 1891 was therefore unreal: on the other hand that disclosed by the present census is attributable solely to the growth of the population. Mr. Gait writes:—

"The standard of accuracy in 1891 had reached a stage which left but little room for further improvement and, as compared with that census, it is probable that the general gain on this account at the present enumeration does not at the outside exceed 100,000, while in the districts where plague was prevalent, the census of 1901 was less complete than its predecessor. Taking the gain and loss together, it may be concluded that there has been no appreciable improvement in the matter of accuracy at the present census."

A close approximation between the growth of the total population as ascertained by the census and that indicated by the vital statistics of the Province is noticed in paragraph 90 of the report; and paragraphs 235 and 396 to 398 discuss a general fall in the birth-rate.

To the mass of the people the most important events of the decade were the scarcities of the years 1891-92, 1896-97 and 1899-1900, the outbreaks of plague which began in the Province in 1898 and the development of the mining and mill industries which led to a great increase in the industrial population therein employed. To Chittagong the cyclone and storm-wave of 1897, which caused directly or indirectly 50,000 deaths, was a grievous calamity. No connection appears to exist between famine and variations in the population in Bihar (paragraphs 176, 181, 186 and 229 of the report); but it would seem that in Chota Nagpur a certain amount of the mortality is possibly attributable to famine (paragraphs 199, 203 and 206).

Seven districts have decreased in population since 1891, viz., Jessore, Patna, Gaya, Shahabad, Saran, Champaran and Purnea, the decrease ranging from 8.4 per cent. in Patna to 2.2 per cent. in Saran. There can be no doubt that the decrease in Patna is mainly due to mortality from plague, to the flight of the people from their homes on account of that disease, and to incomplete enumeration in certain places due to the disorganisation of the census arrangements by plague. In Saran the loss of population is also accounted for by the plague epidemic which was more virulent there than in any other district of this Province, except Patna. In Jessore, Champaran and Purnea, the decrease is due to the prevalence of fever and in Purnea also to a very severe outbreak of cholera which occurred in the year 1900. In South Bihar generally, Mr. Gait finds a diminished birth-rate (paragraph 396).

That Bengal like the rest of India is a land of villages and not towns has long been known, and it appears that at the present time out of every 100 persons in the Province, 95 live in villages and 5 in towns. In the statistics for towns the most striking features are the increase in the population of Calcutta and Howrah and their suburbs, and the decrease in the towns of Bihar, which was due to plague mortality and to temporary desertion caused by plague.

6. The great and growing immigration to Bengal Proper from Bihar and the United Provinces, the emigration from Chota Nagpur to the Assam tea gardens and from the Sonthal Parganas to the Barind tract of Northern Bengal are the most noticeable features of the "migration" statistics. The immigrants from Bihar and the United Provinces come to work in the mines of the coal area, and in the mills of the Metropolitan districts, while in the districts of Bengal proper generally they are employed as field labourers, on earthwork on railways, roads and tanks in the towns (and especially in Calcutta, where 40 per cent. of the inhabitants are Hindi-speaking), they are mostly day-labourers, servants and palki-bearers. Chota Nagpur, though the most sparsely populated tract of the Province, sends out not only the greatest number of emigrants but also the largest proportion as compared with its population; next to Chota Nagpur the districts of Bankura, Hooghly, and Saran send out the greatest proportion of emigrants. More than 10 per cent. of the persons born in these districts were enumerated away from their homes. It has generally been supposed that, except in Chota Nagpur, pressure on the soil was the chief factor in determining the extent of migration, but Mr. Gait strikes a new note and makes the following interesting remarks as to the capacity of rice-growing tracts to support large populations:—

"Speaking generally, it may be said that Eastern Bengal is capable of supporting a much greater population per square mile than Bihar and that in Bihar the tracts which can support most people are those where rice is grown. This explains why Muzaffarpur and Durbhanga with their extensive rice tracts are less dependent on earnings outside the district than Saran which is reported to be very fertile and is highly cultivated and well irrigated but which has a comparatively small area under rice cultivation. Purnea, whence the emigration is least, is almost wholly devoted to the growth of rice."
